HER HUSBANDS

Mrs. John Hoffman Discusses Her Matrimonial Ventures.

Denies Having Ever Been Married to John M. Green.

HUSBAND KENLEY'S DEATH AND HER MARRIAGE TO O'CONNOR.

Was Only Green's Housekeeper, Though People May Have Thought Her His Wife and Called Her Mrs. Green—Saw Attorney Johnson About Getting a Divorce From Kenley—Claims She Advanced $17,000 to Hoffman.

If the representatives of the various interests now engaged in an effort to break John Hoffman's will persevere in their present indicated course they will undoubtedly succeed in inducing Mrs. John Hoffman to take the witness stand in her own defense. This conclusion was reached this morning after a representative of the POST-DISPATCH had had a long interview with Mrs. John Hoffman.

Mrs. Hoffman is a comely, determined, self-reliant woman of middle age, of very dignified bearing, and the ability to express herself plainly and with vigor, without losing her temper or becoming excited. She told a great deal of her life's story, with a knowledge that it would be printed and without reserve.

DID NOT SEEK A DIVORCE.

"I never sought a divorce from John Green," was her first material statement. "I went to see Gov. Charles P. Johnson upon an entirely different matter, but while there I spoke to him about getting a divorce from James M. Kenley, a man many years older than myself, and who, at the time I spoke to Gov. Johnson, was somewhere in the South. I left Gov. Johnson with the understanding that I would see him again about procuring a divorce from Kenley. But in less than a week I got a letter from Kenley, stating that he was very sick somewhere in the South, and asking me to come to him. I did not go, but soon afterward I got another letter, this time from his physician, announcing that my husband was dying, and wished to see me.

"Capt. O'Connor was boarding with me at the time, and I asked his advice. He said I would assume a great risk in taking the trip and offered to go South and investigate for me. I agreed to that, and he went, and remained until Kenley died. He saw my husband decently buried and paid all the bills and brought them with the doctor's certificate to me, saying, "Mrs. Kenley, you're free." I paid him back every dollar he had spent on account of my husband's sickness and death, and soon after that he urged me to marry him. However, I did not do so for almost a year. When I married Kenley I was 15 years old, and he 58. At the time of his death I was keeping two boarding-houses at Thirteenth and Olive streets, and O'Connor was one my boarders."

Mrs. Hoffman then discussed the charges of undue influence over John Hoffman, her husband, and Christopher Hoffman, his brother, made by Mrs. Thomas Ward, daughter of John Hoffman.

"I do not ask a dollar out of John Hoffman's estate more than I put into it of my own money; and as for the houses on Gratiot street that Christopher Hoffman deeded to me for the years of care and nursing I gave him, I will gladly relinquish them if they will pay me a fair price for that care and attention. The farm property that my husband gave me was for nursing him through a sickness that came near costing him his life, when the doctor told him that he owed his life to me. I took that property and I know I earned it. For nine days and nights I was constantly on my feet, nursing both my husband and his brother Chris, and for weeks I was scarcely out of the room.

DISCUSSES THE WARDS.

"I have no ill-feeling whatever toward Mrs. Ward," said Mrs. Hoffman, addressing herself to another branch of the subject with which her mind is evidently surcharged; "and I am free to admit that she did not receive out of her father's estate what was justly due her; but what I am fighting for is the $17,000 and interest that I loaned my husband, John Hoffman, of my own money, and which he fully acknowledged. As soon as we were married Tom Ward, my husband's son-in-law, began to urge him to deed to him and his wife the home place at Kirkwood; and they said, if he would do that they would make friends with me. After that I urged him every day for three months to give them the place, and he finally did so; and as soon as the deed was on record Tom Ward came down town to where we lived on Fourteenth street, and cursed me as I lay sick in bed, saying that I was the cause of Mr. Hoffman not deeding them the Pine street property likewise. My husband came in and heard him and ordered him out of the house, and told him to stay out. But I did all I could to show my friendly feeling for Mrs. Ward, even after my husband's death, but she always spurned me. I even tried to satisfy her by making a change in the vault in Bellefontaine Cemetery, from what my husband had directed, so that his body could lie by that of his first wife, Mrs. Ward's mother; but the coffin would not go into the space provided for it, and we had to place it after all, where Mr. Hoffman directed.

"Now as to how I influenced my husband in property affairs. When we were married his real estate was bringing him $400 a month in rentals, and he died six years later it was bringing him over $900 a month, and the difference was all due to repairs made with my money. My husband had property, it is true, but I had cash, and it is the money that I put in that I ask to have back and that I will have," she concluded with inflexible resolution in both manner and accents.

RIGHT OF ASYLUM.

The Ezeta Case Destined to Rival the Barrundia Affair.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—There are indications that the Ezeta case will become as celebrated in diplomatic history as the Barrundia affair and there is reason to believe that it will result in causing our Government to assume a definite position in the matter of the right of asylum. Although the status quo is maintained in La Libertad and the Salvadorean refugees, with one exception, are still on the United States steamer Bennington, there is the best authority for the statement that the Salvadorean Provisional Government has determined to press its demands for the surrender of Gen. Antonio Ezeta, the Vice-President of the late Government.

The case has assumed such importance that, according to reliable advices, the Salvadorean Government has requested Dr. Guseman to assume the position of Salvadorean Minister at Washington and to conduct the negotiations with the State Department relative to Ezeta. Dr. Guseman is at present the Minister resident at Nicaragua.

On the night of the shooting he went down town, he said, and stopped in a rooming house, taking the train for Kansas City the next day. Last September he went to New Orleans, he said and stayed there for three week, but being unable to obtain work returned to Kansas City and remained until last week, when he came to East St. Louis. Yesterday he crossed the river and went to the house of his aunt, who lives in North St. Louis, and was arrested. He was going to give himself up, he says. He has engaged Gov. Charles P. STABBED HIM.

Dr. C. F. Simmons Gives John McBain a Probably Fatal Wound.

McBain Is Simmons' Foreman and They Had a Business Quarrel.

ACCOUNTS OF THE ENCOUNTER GIVEN BY THE PRINCIPALS DIFFER.

Dr. Simmons Claims That the Infliction of the Wound Was Accidental—McBain Claims the Doctor Rushed at Him in the Heat of Passion—McBain's Condition Critical.

John McBain, 35 years old, a book-keeper employed by the Simmons Liver Medicine Co., 2910 Clark avenue, was stabbed and probably fatally wounded yesterday morning by Dr. C. F. Simmons, President of the company and Superintendent of the Centenary Sunday-school. The doctor claims that the cutting was unintentional and the result of an accident, while McBain says that his assailant stabbed him in the heat of passion.

The police did not learn of the affair until this morning when Officers Kemer and Kennedy arrested the doctor and took him to the Fifth District Station. Later a warrant was sworn out at the Four Courts charging him with assault to kill, and he was released on bonds of $2,500.

SIMMONS' ACCOUNT OF THE AFFRAY.

The statements of Dr. Simmons and McBain, in regard to the cutting, differ essentially in many of the particulars. According to the doctor's story told at the Four Courts this morning he reached his office shortly after 8 o'clock yesterday and found a number of checks, intended for the payment of monthly accounts, awaiting his signature. Before signing them he claims that he told McBain to draw the cash balance at the bank in order that he might see just how he stood.

"In a few moments," said the doctor, "I happened to look behind me and saw McBain still sitting in his original position and again told him to get me that balance. In reply he said that yesterday's statement had not been drawn up. I asked him how that was, and he said that other matters had kept him at work until 6:20 o'clock the night before and that he had not had time to make it out. I told him to do so at once.

"In thinking over what McBain had said I became convinced that he had left the office before 6:20, as he stated, and told him so. His answer was to call me a liar, and when he did so in the heat of passion I struck him in the face with the back of my hand. He said nothing and walked away, but in a moment returned as if to assault me. I was sitting down with my knife in my hand opened and was sharpening my pencil. As he came toward me I jumped from my seat and raised my hands, pencil in one and knife in the other, for the purpose of pushing him away. In some manner the blade of the knife must have penetrated his breast.

"P. D. Chaffee, my stenographer, had jumped up to stop the trouble when he saw McBain coming to me after I had slapped him. He got between us and the first thing I knew of the cutting was when McBain called out 'Mr. Simmons, you have cut me.' I replied, 'I am very sorry if I have; I did not intend to.'" A moment afterward McBain left the office, presumably in search of a doctor.

THE INJURED MAN'S STATEMENT.

John McBain was seen at his home, 2628 Adams street. He is being attended by Drs. Downs and French, both of whom have pronounced his wound most serious and have advised his removal to a hospital, but he prefers staying at home. The knife blade penetrated his left breast immediately above the heart and inflicted a wound one and one-half inches long. The depth of the wound has not yet been ascertained. It needs but a glance to convince any one that the wounded man is in a critical condition. His lips are white and he is excessively weak from loss of blood, while every word he articulates causes him an agony of pain.

"It was just a question of veracity," said McBain between gasps in answer to the reporter's questions. Dr. Simmons asked me why I had not made out the daily statement and I told him that I had been detained at the office until 6:20 the night before by other matters, and that I had not time to make out the statement. Then he told me I must have left before that time because he had gone before that hour and I had left before him. 'You are wrong, doctor,' I said, as I walked over quickly toward him, when, without a word, he jumped up and stuck the knife into me. When I saw the blood pour out and realized that I was cut I immediately ran out in search of a doctor. As I was going out I heard the stenographer call out to Mr. Simmons, "Stop that you old fool, you ought to know better."

In reply to the reporter's questions McBaid said that he did not call the doctor a liar, neither did the doctor slap him nor he attempt to assault the doctor in return. He claimed that he walked towards him quietly when the doctor jumped up and stabbed him. He was not sure whether the doctor had the knife in his hand or whether it was lying on the desk beside him. He had never had any real trouble with the doctor before, he said, although they had had one or two spats during the four months he had been working for him. He characterized the doctor as a man of ungovernable temper whom none of his employes got along well with.

HOSPITAL CASES.

Sarah Chambers and Kate Davis Reported in Dangerous Condition.

Sarah Chambers, the 19-year-old girl of 2119 North Thirteenth street, who fell down stairs sustaining severe internal injuries during an epileptic attack Monday evening, is much worse to-day. Unless an improvement is noted to-morrow an operation will probably be performed.

The chances for the recovery of Kate Davis of 2018 South second street, who was removed to the hospital Wednesday evening, on account of the kick inflicted two months ago by Wm. Blagbeen of 8 market street are regarded as very doubtful and an operation will probably be resorted to.

No genuine case of sunstroke has been treated at the hospital so far this season.

After hearing the stories of the Deputy Sheriff on one side and Mr. Zink on the other Judge Dillon reprimanded him.

Since that time, she says, she has lived with her parents with her two infant children.

Koenig—Van Beek Race.

Fred Koenig, the champion oarsman of the Western Rowing Club, says that his proposed match race with George Van Beek of the North End, for a $200 racing shell, has fallen through. Mr. Koenig says that Van Beek and his friends object to the amount of the trophy and that it is probable that another match with a gold medal as a trophy will be arranged. Van Beek claims that trainer Turner of the Westerns arbitrarily assumed the arrangement of the details of the match and that while he is willing to row Koenig, he proposes to have something to say about the terms on which they meet.

SUGAR AMENDMENTS.

A Desperate Struggle Expected on the Senate Schedule.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—No agreement has yet been reached in the Ways and Means Committee concerning the stand which the House is to take on the sugar schedule of the tariff bill. It is believed, however, that the struggle between the Senate and the House on the schedule will be desperate, with a possibility of a long deadlock between the houses. The Wilson bill, as it left the House, contained no sugar schedule, as the tax on raw and refined sugars had been struck out and the bounty had been abolished outright. The schedule is therefore the only sugar proposition to go to conference, and the first issue will be on the rejection of the Senate schedule entirely, thus returning to the House the former bill which contained no sugar schedule.

Representative Price of Louisiana, who represents the largest sugar district in the State, says the Louisiana delegation has made no plans and is simply waiting on the action of the Senate.

Representative Syer of Louisiana says the Senate amendments give to sugar less than the Louisiana delegation contended for in the House. The free sugar men are very determined and some of them say there can be no compromise short of an absolute surrender of the Senate to the House amendments.

"The House is overwhelmingly opposed to either tax or bounty on sugar," said Mr. Dockery. "It was so when the bill passed the House and it is so now. If anything the feeling is stronger for free sugar now than it was then. There is the voting strength, therefore to non-concur at the outset in the Senate amendments and to keep non-concurring as often as the conference fails to reach an agreement.

"I believe in remaining right at our desks until next March rather than surrender to the Senate sugar schedule," said Mr. Warner of New York. "I think, moreover, that the House is certain to make a resistance which will compel the Senate to yield."

Mr. Warner was asked if the Senate surrender would have to be absolute and unconditional or whether the house would itself yield somewhat for the sake of agreement.

"The normal, natural, inheritent position of the house is for no tax and no bounty on sugar. It would be this or something like this that the House will insist on."

Representative Hatch, of Missouri says: "My judgment is that the House ought to emphasize its position on sugar, and yet I believe any bill which comes out of the conference Committee will be so far ahead of the McKinley bill that I would be ready to surrender my views on it to two or three articles in order to secure a bill."

INDEFINITE LEAVE.

How Congressmen Evade the Law to Save Their Salaries.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—Absenteeism has become a shameful abuse in this Congress. Members who neglect their duties in this way have hit upon two new devices for evading the rigid enforcement of the law requiring that their salaries shall be docked for absence not due to sickness. One plan is to take French leave without giving an excuse; the other is to take "indefinite" leave. The official record for the month of June to date shows that more than one-half the members who have obtained leaves of absence have made the period of leave "indefinite" instead of as heretofore, indicating the exact number of days for which the excuse was desired. The result is to give a decided advantage to members who intend to evade the law, for the record contains no data showing their return to duty, and at the end of the month they are enabled to certify to as brief an absence as their conscience will permit. Official figures show that $18,000 has gone into the pockets of members which should, because of their absence, have been retained in the public treasury.

Testing French Cruisers.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—In view of the great commotion that is caused in the United States by the discovery of some trivial defect in one of our new naval vessels, it is interesting to learn of the costly experience in this line of the French naval architects, who have vastly superior experience in modern steel ship-building. One of their cruisers, the Cosmogon, which was built at St. Nazaire, the principal site of French naval construction, was delivered to the Government at least five years ago. She was only required to make 20 knots degrees, yet the contractors have only succeeded, after innumerable trials, lasting five years, in passing a successful test and securing the acceptance of the vessel.

ANTI-OPTION.

Consideration of the Hatch Bill in the Lower House.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Immediately on convening to-day the House went into Committee of the Whole on the anti-option bill.

The bill was read by sections for amendment, and Mr. Aldrich of Illinois offered the first amendment, inserting "flour" in the list of agricultural products affected by the bill. Mr. Crain of Texas, speaking to a proforma amendment, read from the Ocala platform that the anti-option bill was based on Populist doctrine and asserted that the bill was vicious or deceptive, for it stated that its purpose was to raise revenue by legalizing gambling and if it suppressed gambling then it would not raise revenue.

The amendment of Mr. Aldrich was adopted on division, 93 to 33.

Stone of Pennsylvania offered an amendment exempting 30-day options from the provisions of the bill. It was defeated, 93 to 92, failing to get a majority.

FEARED THE A. P. A.

Hallucination Which Led Lawrence Mosler to Attempt His Life.

Lawrence Mosler, a molder residing at 917 Mallinckrodt street, attempted to kill himself last night by severing an artery in his left wrist with a razor. He is now at the City Hospital in a semi-conscious condition. Mosler has a wife, who says he has been a hard-working man for years, but he has had no employment of late and has shown signs of increasing dispondency. According to Mrs. Mosler's statements her husband has lately been laboring under an hallucination which leads him to believe that he is under the ban of the A. P. A. and that agents of that society have been following him with murderous intentions. It is supposed that this hallucination is due to temporary mental aberration, resulting from worry about his financial condition. His condition is critical, but the hospital physicians think he may recover.

DID NOT WHISTLE.

Tom Parmalee Denies Having Annoyed W. E. Emanuel's Servant Girl.

Tom Parmalee, a young man who came here from Louisville, Ky., two weeks ago, secured a summons from Assistant City Attorney Mulvihill at the Second District Police Court this morning against W. E. Emanuel, whom he charged with disturbing his peace. Parmalee stated he was boarding with his uncle, S. B. Parmalee, who lives at 4531 Maffitt avenue, and working for the Mound City Manufacturing Co., of which his relative is manager. Last Monday, he said, as he drove his wagon through the alley and into the stable in the rear of the Parmalee residence, Mrs. Emanuel, whose house is numbered 4546 St. Louis avenue, and whose stable is just across the alley from his, accused him of whistling at her servant girl. Parmalee denied having done so, he said, and told Mrs. Emanuel to desist in her accusations. Last night about 9 o'clock as he passed through the alley, he said, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel had just returned from a drive and the girl and her "fellow," who he said was an employe of family in Magnolia Terrace were unhitching the horses. One of them remarked: "There goes the fellow that whistled," and the girl's beau wanted to know what he meant by whistling at her. He denied doing so, he said, and told the young man he could thrash him. Then he said Emanuel pulled a pistol and threatened to shoot him, whereupon he fled.

DELAYED THE DIVIDEND.

Manager Wainwright Explains Why the Syndicates' Business Fell Behind.

Throughout the entire beer war the labor leaders have maintained that the boycott has made big inroads on the sales of the syndicate breweries, and that the English stockholders had felt the brunt of the fight.

Hitherto little has been heard from the stockholders. The following from the London Financial Times of recent date shows the information furnished the British stockholders:

The report of the St. Louis Breweries, Limited, for the half year ending March 31, states that sales of beer were abnormally dull, in consequence of the severe depression in trade which has existed in America ever since the panic of last year. The monetary position is now easier, and it is proposed to pay on July 1 the six months' dividend—which would otherwise have been paid on Jan. 1 last—at the rate of 8 per cent per annum on the preference shares.

When shown this article this morning President Ellis Wainwright asked, "Well what do you want to know? That business was dull last year?"

"That article simply shows that the association will owe no arrears of dividends July 1. If that indicates that the boycott has completely annihilated our business, I do not know how to read. There were arrears last year. They will be paid up July 1. The association has always had money to meet the interest due on the bonds in bank six months in advance."

Secretary Charles F. Becktold of the National Union of Brewery Workmen read the little paragraph with keen satisfaction. "I never heard that any other of the big breweries passed a dividend," he remarked. "Of course the hard times have affected sales of all breweries, but there is an enormous profit in the business.

CHASED THE THIEF.

Is Rebe De Nuit Mrs. Dineen Pursued an Intruder.

Officer Mahon of the Third District arrested James alias "Slicky" Walsh on Sixth and Morgan streets at 2:30 o'clock this morning on a charge of petit larceny. About 3:30 last Monday morning he is alleged to have climbed through an open window into the sleeping-room of Mrs. Mary Dineen, in the rear portion of the first floor at 926 North Broadway, and to have stolen a pocket-book containing 70 cents. Mrs. Dineen was awakened and saw the intruder escape through the back door. She chased after him in her robe de nuit and claims to have got near enough to recognize him as Walsh, but she did not catch him.

IN THE RIVER.

Body of a Girl Found Floating in the Meramec.

She Was Young and Pretty, But No One Knows Her.

VALLEY PARK AUTHORITIES HAVE NO CLEW TO HER IDENTITY.

She Left St. Louis on the Frisco Road Thursday Afternoon—A Man Whom She Met On the Train Says She Would Not Tell Who She Was Going to Visit—Description of the Corpse.

The body of a young girl that was last evening found in the Meramec River at Valley Park has not been identified. Nor have the authorities been able to decide whether she committed suicide or was murdered. A farmer who saw the body this morning thought her name was Manning, and that she formerly lived near Valley Park, but Joe Manning was sent for and he said the body was not that of his sister.

Valley Park is fifteen miles southwest of St. Louis, on the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad. A POST-DISPATCH reporter went out there this morning, saw the body and examined the contents of the valise.

HER DESCRIPTION.

The girl was about 18 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height and weighed about 100 pounds. Her features were small, and she had prominent upper front teeth. The calloused spots on her hands indicated that she had been accustomed to hard work. The only mark on the body that might lead to its identification is a wart between the knuckles of the third and fourth fingers of the right hand. In the black satchel which she left with Agent Stevens at the station were a light calico skirt, a slate colored skirt and several waists. Besides these and a few toilet articles the valise contained nothing but a business card of the White Sewing Machine Co. There was absolutely nothing to indicate her name or where she came from. Inquiry was made at the sewing machine office in this city, but the manager could think of no one answering the description of the girl found drowned.

AT THE DEPOT.

Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon a slight pretty girl was seated in the women's waiting-room at the Union Depot in this city. She held a railroad ticket in one hand and the other tightly clasped the handle of a large black valise. When the trains were called out she inquired the way to the Valley Park accommodation of the Frisco line. G. H. Berry, a Valley Park grocer, overheard her and as he was going on the same train he directed her to follow and he would assist her to get aboard. After they were on the train and he found that she was going to Valley Park, he asked who she knew there, but she evaded the question and remained silent during the rest of the journey.

The girl was cheaply attired. She wore a blue calico skirt, red striped calico waist, low-cut black shoes with patent-leather tips, and an old pair of black kid gloves. Her valise was a large, old-fashioned bag, such as servant girls from country towns usually carry when they come into the city. When the train arrived at Valley Park the girl got off and asked the station agent to take care of her valise, saying that she would return in a few minutes. She didn't return and the valise remained uncalled for at the depot.

BODY FOUND.

Where she went after leaving the station no one appears to know, but several hours after the arrival of the train Charles Broecker, a farmer, found her body floating in the Meramec River. He was on his way home about dusk, and seeing something in the river he stopped his team and went down to the water to investigate. He saw that the object that had attracted his attention was the body of a young girl, and with a long pole he made the body float and guided it to the river bank. Citizens of Valley Park were immediately notified and Constable shoemacher brought the body into town. Squire Hodgetter impanneled a jury and held an inquest, but nothing was developed to show whether or not the girl had committed suicide or had been murdered, for no one can be found who saw her after she left the depot or who even noticed which direction she took after she gave her valise to the railroad agent. The finding of the body created a good deal of excitement among the villagers, but of all the persons who examined it there was no one who admitted having seen the girl prior to the time that Mr. Berry first noticed her at the depot in St. Louis. Believing that she had come from St. Louis, possibly for the express purpose of ending her life, Constable shoemacher sent a telegram to Chief of Police Harrigan, describing the body and the clothing, but the police here have been unable to find the slightest clew to her identity. No one answering her description has been reported missing and no inquiries have been made at police headquarters except by newspaper men.

Chief Harrigan, from the slight information in his possession, is of the opinion that she is a country girl who may have been at work in St. Louis, but who, for some reason, started yesterday to return to her home. Neither he nor Coroner Fisk have taken any steps toward having the body brought here, nor will they unless she is identified and her friends request that the body be brought to St. Louis. Should it remain unidentified the body will probably be buried at Valley Park.

This afternoon it was decided to bring the body to the city in hopes of having it identified.

COXEY'S THEOSOPHISTS.

The Army to Be Encamped Near Gray Gables.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., June 22.—Henry H. Foulke and George Falkenstein of Philadelphia, President and Secretary of the Mahatmas Navy, arrived here in order, as they say, to set up a Monastery of Theosophists at Onset Bay, a mile and a half from Gray Gables. But this is not all. Mr. Foulke says that he has arranged to bring Coxey's army here on a schooner as soon as Congress adjourns, and that they will be encamped in a forest tract at the head of Onset and Buttermilk Bays.

"They'll work, bless you," said he, when asked what they would do when he got them here; "they'll have to dig clams, saw wood and the like of that. They want to come. These things work themselves. You cannot stop them. It's one of the forerunners of troubles ahead that will be much more than we have passed through."

Dire predictions are made by Mr. Foulke of panic and disaster, of the sudden death of men in high places, of uprisings of wage-earners and of violence that shall extort all their money from the rich and give it to the poor. Then there will be peace. Foulke is in dead earnest in his purpose.

The commander of the 24 California Regiment of Commonwealers, with his staff and body guard, arrived from the United States Marshal of Colorado while camped in Dodge City, Kan.

BOOKS NOT FOUND.

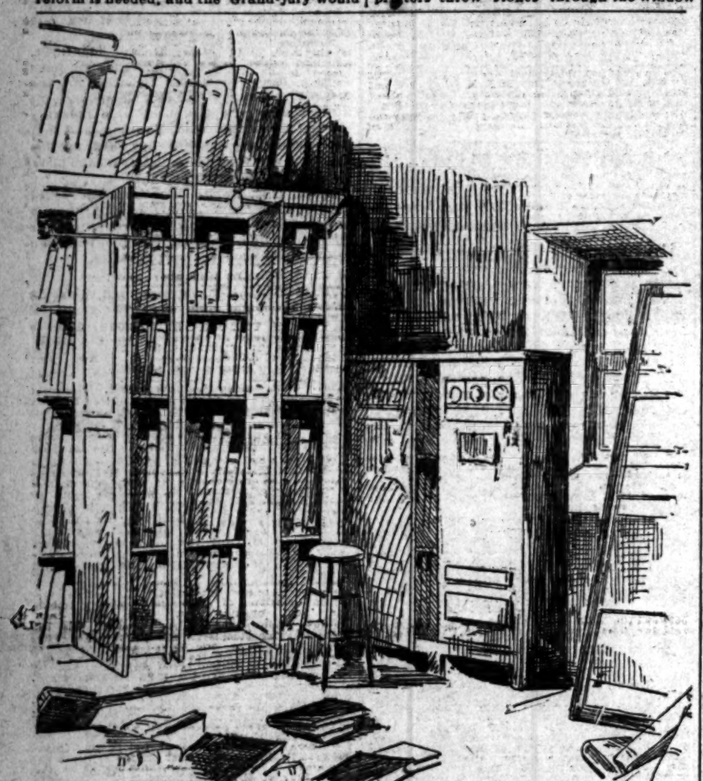

Search Still on for the Dramshop License Records.

LITTLE CHANCE THAT THE MISSING VOLUMES WILL BE UNEARTHED.

Manner in Which Collector Ziegenhein's Two Deputies Are Prosecuting Their Search—If in the Cellar the Books Should Have Been Located Before This—How Public Records Are Kept.

Collector Zeigenhain is still making a search for those two missing books or records of saloon licenses issued during the past year, so earnestly desired by the Grand-jury, but as yet he is as far from finding them as ever. The Collector is thoroughly disgusted with his task, and believes it is all foolishness anyway. He regards his search as one after a needle in a haystack, and speaks as hopelessly of attaining any results.

That the cellar in which the city records are stored is in a disgraceful condition there is no question. Here valuable papers and books are carelessly thrown into corners, heaped into boxes and piled promiscously on shelves without the slightest attention to order or anything else. Broken furniture and a great miscellany of things for which no earthly use can be conceived have been dumped on the floors and make progression around the place of considerable difficulty and danger. The place is ilty lighted, and dirt is everywhere. It is a veritable kingdom for rats and spiders. A reform is needed, and the Grand-jury would do well to accept Mr. Zeigenhein's invitation and inspect the place.

Vault in Which the Search Is Being Made for Missing Books.

The cellars consist of one large apartment and one small one. The large one is divided into two compartments by a cabinet partition which forms shelves and pigeon-holes, upon which some of the books rest, and in which court records are stored. Around the walls stand similar cabinets. Collector Zeigenhein says that the city records, not only of his office, but of the office of the Recorder of Deeds and the court records, etc., for the past fifty years are stored here, but if they are an enormous number must be missing or the Departments did precious little work. To the reporter there did not seem to be enough records for one department for five years.

THE SEARCH.

Two men were at work when the reporter visited the cellar this morning. They had been searching for the books for four days, it was stated, and during that time claimed to have examined every volume in the place. Perhaps they did really look for the books in question when they first commenced, but if so they had certainly become heartless and disgusted with their task. One of them was busy lifting books from the shelves and putting them back again, but in the half hour or more the reporter remained there he failed to examine the title or contents of any book he handled. The other fellow was very industriously engaged in examining volumes nearly as large as himself, while the missing books, as described by Collector Zeigenhein, were small books about half an inch thick and about 6 inches wide and some 10 or 12 inches long. Mr. Zeigenhein may be in earnest in his search, but his assistants did not appear to be this morning.

The books will not be found. If they were in the cellar they could hardly have failed to have been unearthed the first day. In all, there are not more than 1,500 volumes, at a liberal estimate, in the place, and of the kind described by Mr. Zeigenhein, there are not more than three dozen. If necessary, an index of every book there could be taken in eight hours or less.

Other of last year's records, taken down the cellar at the same time as those missing, have been found dumped in one corner. The natural inference would be that if the books were taken down there at all they would have all been placed together, but the licen se records were not found among those placed there at the time.

BEFORE THE GRAND-JURY.

Collector Ziegenhein called at the Four Courts this morning and reported that he has not yet been able to find the books containing the record of the dramshop licenses which are wanted by the Grand-jury. He said that he had two men at work looking for them. W. P. Link and James McDonough, two of Ziegenhein's clerks, were before the Grand-jury to-day and a number of saloonkeepers.

WIMAN'S WORK.

The Convicted Forger Talks About What He Did for Dun & Co.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Sitting in his cell in the Tombs Erastus Wiman, sentenced to the Penitentiary for forgery, talked to reporters about the work he had done to build up the Dun-Wiman Commercial Agency. He said:

"I had never less than twenty libel suits on hand at any one time. There was a great deal of delicate work about adjusting some of them. It was necessary to use money sometimes, and not to do it in too ostentatious a way, because of the principle of the thing.

"I do not pretend to be a philanthropist. I have been able to lead a generally helpful life, and the hundreds of friendly letters I get now show the result of it.

"Think of the work I did to prevent hostile legislation that threatened the Dun-Wyman business. Seven States at one time were trying to legislate us out of existence.

"Once I spent a month at Harrisburg—I, Erastus Wyman—and worked night and day with the legislators. At a critical moment I needed to influence the Senators. I sent telegrams differently worded to all my agents in the state, I ordered them to get those telegrams signed by the biggest men in their localities and repeat them back to the Senators. When the crowd of telegrams protesting against the contemplated legislation began to pour in the Senators felt that they were threatening the State's interests and I was all right.

"I wanted to write an editorial and get it in the Harrisburg Patriot. The editor couldn't do it because the printers were on a strike. I set up the editorial matter myself, composing it as I went along. The striking printers threw stones through the window at me, taking me for a rat, but I explained things to them and threw them $10 for their fund.

"That editorial was a great success. It was by such ideas and schemes as that that I built up the business that now pays $500,000 a year to the men who are trying to drive me to prison.

"The difficult task was to get good solid men for agents and to make them do our work for nothing. I drove from one town to the other in my buggy. I selected my business man and saw him in the evening, often dining with him. I found out what sort of things amused his wife. If she was musical, I brought her a lot of music. If she liked books I got books. To-day the concern gets news from 100,000 agents, not one of whom is paid a dollar.

"I do not pretend to be a methodical business man, and I know I have done many careless things. A man who has genius enough to make $80,000 a year is not apt to be much at keeping books. The two do not go together. I'm a very careless fellow.

"People have talked a great deal about my vanity. Perhaps there has been some vanity in my life, but there was more than that. I had to make the business of a mercantile agency respectable, and to do that I had to make myself respected and well known as the head of the agency. Whatever I may have done to add to my personal reputation, making speeches, etc., has put money into the pockets of those whom I have built up."

A Southerner on the Cave Episode.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The bombast with which Rev. Mr. Cave's bombastic confederate address is applauded by a few effervescing male and female orators, is one of the summer amusements—like "Erminie" and soda at Uhrig's. No one is disposed to take the orators seriously. They are not more dangerous than Anarchist Tucker, the mildest of enthusiasts; or Kelley's Coxeyites. How strange it sounds now to hear from even such exotic sources, praises of a "cause" made up of slavery extension and national dismemberment. Both of these issues have been settled adversely to the "cause" by the common consent of the enlightened sentiment of the world. Unification and freedom have become unquestioned axioms of all civilization. The dogma of colored spots on our maps of forty years ago, which made up Germany have been merged into one, and the same with Italy. Statesmen and students recognize that large nations afford better protection than jealous and belligerent small ones.

Instead of small independent States—petty in all their tendencies—examples innumerable have illustrated the advantages to commerce and to liberty of larger and less personal government. It probably is not an open question with one in 1,000 Southerners, of which I am one to the manner how, whether slavery extension, as demanded in the fifties, was a right and a blessing, or whether the doctrine is sound that each State of the Union was an independent and sovereign nation, joined with other States in a temporary compact of friendship. In spite of the reflection which it implies on sacred names, it must be remembered that it was not on the prohibition of slavery in the slave States that the war issue was raised, Republicans supported the Crittenden resolutions. One of these resolutions, introduced in Congress early in '61, provided for an amendment to the Constitution establishing slavery forever in the States where it then existed, and prohibiting the introduction in or consideration by Congress of any petition, resolution or act having for its aim any interference with slavery where it then existed.

There are probably as few Unionists who bear ill-will toward ex-Confederates, as there are ex-Confederates who still feel called upon to defend the lost cause. The question can have a practical bearing only as to the soundness of the two essential confederate principles—perpetual negro slavery and disunion at will.

These issues have been settled, not by Lee and Grant at Appomattox, but by the conscience and statesmanship of civilized nations.

Nowhere is this judgment more unanimous than in the southern half of the United States, free and indissoluble.

William Whaley, colored, was hanged at Columbus, O., yesterday for the murder of Allen Wilson in October last.

Edgar Shelton yesterday attacked and cut Edgar Leonard with a razor at Berkley Springs, W. Va. Leonard had attempted to save a woman whom Shelton was threatening to kill. The injured man can hardly live, and in event of his death a lynching is looked for.

Chief of Police Thomas Kent was placed on trial at Champaign, Ill., yesterday charged with whipping a negro small-pox patient. When the case was called the State's Attorney changed the charge from one of assault to one of murder.

Elijah D. Fulford of Syracuse, N. Y., was yesterday placed on trial at Indianapolis, Ind., on a charge of forgery. He was foreman of construction for the Long Distance Telephone Co., and is charged with carrying straw men on his pay-roll and signing vouchers for their salaries.

Juan Dogue, a Mexican, was arrested at San Antonio, Tex., yesterday, on an extradition warrant charging him with being concerned in the Garza revolution.

Robert L. Mitchell was yesterday shot and killed by a negro named James Cherry, near Gallatin, Tenn. The shooting grew out of an alleged debt of $50 which Cherry claimed Mitchell owed him.

The trial of Thomas Kent, city marshal of Champaign, Ill., for murder is now being held. The marshal is alleged to have brutally beaten with a mule whip a negro, who a few days afterwards died of small-pox. It is now alleged that his death was due to the injuries caused by the whip.

AMERICAN DERBY.

Review of the Field in To-Morrow's Classic Event.

DOMINO AND SENATOR GRADY ARE STILL STRONG FAVORITES.

Fred Taral Will Ride the Keene Colt and Snapper Garrison Marcus Daly's Candidate—Prince Carl's Chances—Eddie Von Der Ahe Offers to Sell the Browns for $45,000—Track and Stable Talk.

With echoes of yesterday's great race still ringing in their ears, turfites await eagerly the result of to-morrow's American derby at Washington Park. The field expected to start includes, with the exception of Henry of Navarre, Dobbins and Lazzarone, the pick of 3-year-olds in this country. Domino, the great unbeaten until he met Navarre, will not have to contend with Byron McClelland's gallant colt to-morrow and with the incomparable Fred Taral in the saddle, Keene's crack will no doubt go to the post a slight favorite over the Montana copper millionaire, Marcus Daly's, representative, Senator Grady, who will be piloted by Taral's great rival, the redoubtable "Snapper" Garrison.

If he can pilot Domino to victory, Taral's cup of joy will be filled to overflowing, for he has already won the Brooklyn handicap on Dr. Rice and the Metropolitan and Suburban handicaps on Ramapo. Last year Garrison had the mount on the American derby winner, Boundless, while Taral rode St. Leonards, who finished second. The pair will have the mount on the favorites to-morrow and unless something unforeseen happens, like the long delay at the post in last year's race, the contest is expected to narrow down to a battle in the saddle, between Taral on Domino and Garrison on Senator Grady.

Next to the top favorites, Rogers' and Swatts' good Sir Modred colt Dorian seems most fancied. This is due to the colt's good race over the derby route last week, when he defeated Sir Walter and Sport, handily in 2:42 True, both the latter were conceding Dorian seventeen pounds, but so shrewd a trainer as J. W. Rogers thought the race good enough to justify his starting the colt in to-morrow's big event. Rogers is considered one of the best trainers in the United States. He's not in the habit of shooting out the moon, and Dorian goes to the post in the derby because his owner and trainer thinks he has a good chance to win. Sport's showing in the suburban yesterday furnishes quite a line on Dorian's capabilities. With Marty Bergen in the saddle he's liable to be a contender from start to finish to-morrow.

The most favored of the Western candidates are Chris Smith's Prince Carl and Ed Corrigan's Despot. Prince Carl is best known to local turfites on account of his good performances at the Fair Grounds. He beat some good horses here, and if he can handle 122 pounds over one and one-half miles, his owner may get a slice of the derby money. "Tiny" Williams, one of the best jockeys on the Western circuit, has the mount on the Prince. The Hawthorne contingent of the turf world think Corrigan's Despot has an outside chance. He will be ridden by Willie Martin, Leigh & Rose's premier jockey. Despot, it is claimed, could have won the Hawthorne Derby last Saturday, but this would have penalized him to-morrow, and Corrigan took the Cicero event with Vassal. Followers of the Corrigan stable say Despot wasn't urged at any part of the route, but others who saw the race, claim different. Charley McCafferty, who ran second with Senator Irby says Corrigan wanted to finish one-two with Vassal and Despot, and the only reason he did not do so was because Despot couldn't get up. If this is correct Despot should not cut much of a figure in to-morrow's race.

"Lucky" Baldwin's candidate Rey El Santa Anita figures to some extent, if the track is heavy, otherwise he seems outclassed. Lucky Dog, who belongs to the Oregon millionaire, Simon Reed, is another probable starter that seems out of his class while the same may be said of Cash Day. Resplendent and Alcenor should run last. According to the latest advices from Chicago the derby field will be made up as follows:

	Weight.	Owner.	Jockey.
Domino	122	J. B. & F. P. Keene	Taral.
Sen. Grady	122	Marcus Daly	Garrison.
Herapine	122	J. R. & F. P. Keene	Hamilton.
R. el S. Anita	122	E. J. Baldwin	Vankuren.
Lucky Dog	122	S. G. Reed	W. Hill.
Dorian	122	Rogers & Swatts	Bergen.
Despot	122	E. Corrigan	Martin.
Prince Carl	122	Chris Smith	R. Williams.
Resplendent	122	C. E. Railey	J. Hill.
Alcenor	122	L'ngwood & LaForge	Overton.
Cash Day	122	C. H. Carmichael	Weber.

Racing is losing ground with influential men all over the world. The jockey clubs in this country may make vast profits this year, and, possibly, a few years longer, but in England, France, Australia, and in the United States the number of influential people who are asking earnestly, "Why should open gambling on horses upon a huge scale be allowed any more than gambling in big lotteries?" is growing every year. In historic Westminster Abbey, the most famous church in England, exceeding in renown even St. Paul's and far surpassing Canterbury, York, Lincoln, Durham, Litchfield and other celebrated English cathedrals, Dr. Percival, master of the great school at Rugby, preached a sermon recently in which he denounced horse racing. In speaking of the Prime Minister of Great Britain, Lord Rosebery, he said: "When an English nobleman patronized the turf, with its weedy growth of dishonesty and degradation, simply to gratify a feeling for excitement, and did not use an effort or stir a finger to reform it, he came under condemnation." That is a very significant sign of the times in England. And how many fingers have been stirred with any determined and resolute purpose to reform the American turf thoroughly this year? Is the President of the New Jockey Club and the Chairman of the Board of Stewards stirring his fingers very energetically and extensively in that direction? If so, the results do not appear conspicuously to the vision of ordinary human beings. Many newspapers in New York and other cities, and millions of people in all parts of the country believe that there is still ample room for reform on the turf," writes Arthur F. Bowers.

Last year's American Derby was worth $50,000 to the winner. In this race Boundless covered the route in 2:36 flat, which stands as the record for the event. The best previous time in the race was made by C. H. Todd in 1887, he going the distance in 2:36½. The latter, however, only carried 118 pounds. Isaac Murphy rode the first three winners of the derby, besides piloting Emperor of Norfolk to victory in 1888. Tom Kiley had the mount on Spokane and Uncle Bob in 1889 and 1890. A history of the race will be found below:

For 3-year-olds, a mile and half:

Year.	Horse.	Wght.	Jockey.	Time.
1884	Modesty	117	I. Murphy	2:42½
1885	Volante	123	I. Murphy	2:49½
1886	Silver Cloud	121	I. Murphy	2:37½
1887	C. H. Todd	118	T. Hamilton	2:36½
1888	Emperor of Norfolk	125	I. Murphy	2:40½
1889	Spokane	121	T. Kiley	2:41½
1890	Uncle Bob	115½	T. Kiley	2:55½
1891	Strathmeath	122	A. Covington	2:49½
1892	Carlsbad	122	R. Williams	3:04½
1893	Boundless	122	E. Garrison	2:36

Two of the most prominent owners at the Fair Grounds were discussing the frequency with which special races have been made at the present meeting yesterday.

"Yes," said one who owns several well-known selling platers, "they have been making all kinds of races here, but one class of performers has been entirely neglected."

"And who are they?" inquired his companion.

"Why, horses that have started four times and not even showed because their owners didn't want them," was the reply, and both turfmen chuckled and looked knowingly at the writer, who was an interested listener.

Horse owners' secrets would make interesting reading to turfites if they could be printed.

Track Talk.

Frank Shaw arrived in this city from Latonia yesterday. He's here drumming up horses for the coming Twin City meeting and leaves for Chicago to-night.

Charles McCafferty went up to Chicago Wednesday night to see Senator Irby win at Hawthorne yesterday. He returned this morning greatly pleased with the colt's performance.

Johnny Mooney, the jockey, expects to leave for St. Paul in a day or so.

The longest shot of the present meeting, Tea Set, at 150 to 1, made connections in the last race at the Fair Grounds yesterday. Martin Henry, the Market street saloon keeper, is said to have $7 at 100 to 1, on the mare.

Jockey Johnnie Gorman regained consciousness late yesterday afternoon, and his physicians are hopeful of his recovery. No operation was performed.

The Madison track card for to-morrow includes a mile event for $500 and a dash of five-eighths of a mile for $300.

The Madison and East St. Louis foreign books will handle thousands of dollars to-morrow on the American derby.

BROWNS FOR SALE.

Eddie Von der Ahe Offers to Take $45,000 for the Plant.

The plant of the St. Louis Sportsman's Park Club and Association was offered for sale last night for $45,000 by Treasurer Ed Von der Ahe. This includes the National League franchise, the Browns' players, improvements at new Sportsman's Park, as well as the leasehold, which has thirteen years to run at $1,500 a year. Treasurer Von der Ahe says that the offer is open for fifteen days and that his only stipulation is that one-half of the amount must be paid in cash with the balance satisfactorily secured. When the suggestion was made to young Mr. Von der Ahe that the offer would carry more weight if made by his father, he replied, that he was not talking at random and made the proposal in good faith. He continued: "Let some of our critics take hold of the club and run it to suit themselves. We are willing to sell out for about what the improvements cost. I will give you $1,000 to find a purchaser at the price I have put upon the plant. Now, as to Buckley's release—I knew nothing of it until yesterday morning. Neither did George Munson. Buckley has for various causes been unable to do steady work and father did not feel justified in carrying him any longer. I think myself that it is rather risky to run the team with only one regular catcher. Still, both Miller and Peitz can be used behind the bat. I have an engagement and must go," said Eddie, as he boarded a car; "go into the office and see father."

The reporter was unable to find President Von der Ahe. The earnestness with which Eddie Von der Ahe spoke and the confidence which his father is known to repose in him, leave no room for doubt that the Von der Ahes are willing to get out of base ball. The offer of Eddie Von der Ahe is considered reasonable and it is more than probable that a movement for the formation of a syndicate to buy the Browns will be started to-day.

"President Von der Ahe made a mistake in releasing Buckley," said one of the Browns yesterday, "but he treated Dick white. When he handed 'Buck' his ten days' notice of release yesterday morning, Dick showed him a telegram to the effect that burglars had cleaned out his home in Chicago the night before. 'Pay me for five days of the ten days my contract calls for after notice of release, and I'll go home to-night.' 'All right, Buck,' said Chris, 'here is your money, and with it your unconditional release.' Dick left for home last night. That was a square deal, wasn't it? What will Dick do? He will rest his game ankle for a while, and if he can make terms with Anson, play in Chicago. That is Dick's home, and he would prefer the Colts on that account. Philadelphia needs a catcher badly, and I guess Irwin will make an effort to get him. Clements will not be able to play for months; Grady is in bad shape and Cross will be needed at shortstop until Allen gets over his injuries. So I look for Buckley to join the Phillies. Boston is not on Easy street as far as catchers are concerned, and Dick may catch on with the Bean-eaters. His arm is in good shape and I see no reason why he should not do good work for years to come. Buckley's first experience in the National League was with Indianapolis. He was transferred to New York along with Rusie, Glasscock and Denny in the Brotherhood year. From the New York club he came to St. Louis. He is one of the best catchers to coach young pitchers I ever knew. Rusie admits that he owes his success to the advice Buckley gave him. Pink Hawley's improvement is due to Buckley's coaching. Yes, his release was a mistake."

Pat Tebeau and his Spiders arrived this morning and will begin a three-game series with the Browns at Sportsman's Park to-day. Manager Tebeau is not at all disconcerted by the reverses which have shoved his team down to fifth place. "Poor batting is responsible for our losing so many games," said Pat this morning. "We have as good a team as any we have met this year, and I am confident that before the Eastern clubs finish their Western trip Cleveland will be knocking around among the leaders. McAleer is injured again, Ewing's arm is not strong, but otherwise we are all right. We have fallen off in batting, and to this more than anything else I attribute the loss of many of our games. So Buckley has been released. The Browns lost a good, steady man, who will be gobbled up at once by one of the League clubs. Accidents must be provided against and I always carry an extra man. A week seldom goes by without my needing him. The team that is run short handed is always in difficulties. When a man gets hurt, he has no chance for a rest and the first thing you know your whole team is crippled."

Manager Anson believes in giving his players the best of everything. He thinks it good policy financially. No club pays more for hotel and carriage hire than the Chicagos. When he arrives in St. Louis he engages quarters at the Southern. In Boston he puts up at the Quincy House, and is the only one to do so. In Washington he is registered at the swell Arlington. 'Busses, some of them very rickety, are good enough to convey the champions to and from grounds, but Anson's men ride in the finest of carriages. The Chicago players appreciate the way they are handled by the management and are envied by the players of other clubs, some of whom have to walk from the depot to the hotel in the city where they play.

To-Morrow's Game.

The second game of the Civeland-St. Louis series will be played at Sportsman's Park to-day. The Spiders are great favorites in St. Louis, and are considered by many probable pennant-winners. The Browns will make a strong effort to advance themselves in the race. If Breitenstein pitches to-day Clarkson will be in the points for the Browns to-morrow. Cuppy will probably officiate for the Spiders.

Yesterday's Games.

There was no game scheduled for the Browns or Clevelands for yesterday. By batting Meekin and German almost at will, Brooklyn gave New York a terrible defeat yesterday. Chicago took another game from Pittsburg and Louisville defeated Cincinnati. Washington dropped a game to Boston and Baltimore advanced a peg at Philadelphia's expense. The scores:

At Cincinnati—Louisville 5, Cincinnati 4.
At Baltimore—Baltimore 9, Philadelphia 5.
At Washington—Boston 10, Washington 7.
At Brooklyn—Brooklyn 16, New York 1.
At Pittsburg—Chicago 10, Pittsburg 7.

The League Race.

The standing of the League clubs at noon to-day was as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Baltimore	31	12	.721	New York	26	22	.542

Glover Withdraws From Brennan.

Attorney John M. Glover has withdrawn from the case of Dr. M. R. Brennan against Mayor Walbridge, leaving the matter in the hands of Attorney M. B. Jonas. His action has caused surprise and rumors of a rupture between the redoubtable little lawyer and his gray-whiskered client, but Mr. Glover says he simply withdrew from the case because he was crowded with work, and had guarded the case safely past the critical point.

IT is very inconsiderate in the Grand-jury to demand just the books which Collector Ziegenhein cannot find.

A FROG cannot breathe when its mouth is open. What a pity nature does not build some of our statesmen that way!

PERHAPS some careless employe in Mr. Ziegenhein's department has loaned out those books to some conscienceless book borrower.

THE improvement of the day train service offers an opportunity for the Post-office Department to help in securing a great benefit for St. Louis.

THE laws of Missouri relating to criminal procedure seem to be curiously contrived for the benefit of malefactors who have money enough to employ able counsel.

IT may be impossible to find out just how Crocker got his big fortune, but the Lexow investigation throws a flood of light on that other question—why he went to Europe?

IN Mexico lemons are so abundant that they rot on the ground, while here in St. Louis we pay 10, 15 and 20 cents a dozen for them. Our Mexican trade sadly needs working up.

IT is possible that both Gov. Stone and the compositor would be justified in putting an additional "s" into asinine when referring to the stupidity of "those people at Washington."

NOW THAT Senators Allen and Chandler have declared each other to be baboons, we may expect to see Prof. Garner hastening to the Senate Chamber to take notes of the Simian language.

THE annual $10,000,000 of hush money paid the New York police, if applied to cleaning and beautifying the city, would give us a metropolis at which Frenchmen from Paris would stare.

THE news that the Southern Illinois coal mines are reopening is welcome news. The industrial and commercial interests of St. Louis will be freed from the burden of a coal shortage.

THE bust of Adlai Stevenson arrived from Italy just in time to help his boom. Doubtless, however, his rivals will look hopefully upon it as an omen. There are such things as busted booms.

COL. BRECKINRIDGE'S name may not be "Mud" because James B. Clay will support a Republican rather than the defendant in the P.-B. case, but the determined opposition of other ex-Confederates is not to be whistled down the wind.

"I THINK the Congressmen down in Washington are acting like a lot of asses," said Gov. Stone to a Milwaukee reporter, and then added, "but maybe that is too strong language to use." Not at all, Governor, just strong enough.

IT is a remarkable fact that in all the discussion over the sugar tax the trust agents have not contended that it raised wages or that the foreigner paid it. The whole protection theory rests upon these brilliant propositions. Why are they not duly set forth?

SOME of the poisoned fruits of bigotry are cropping out in the fights of fanatics and disgraceful assaults by adherents of both sides of the controversy. If the American people should give themselves up to church dissensions this country would not be fit to live in.

SENATOR HILL'S denunciation of the income tax as a war assessment falls flat in the face of the fact that our war veterans are to be provided for. Who has been more benefited by the results of the civil war than our rich men? The income tax returns will pay millions in pensions, though it is only 2 per cent.

THE plea of "a business man" in the "People's Forum" for capable Justices for the new courts should be heeded by all business men. Every citizen in St. Louis has a personal interest in the elevation of the Justices' courts to the highest point of ability and efficiency. The bulk of ordinary law business will be settled in these courts.

GOV. MCKINLEY makes a great mistake in declining to go to the Convention of Republican Leagues at Denver. The points he might pick up there touching the Republican inclination to silver might prove of great value to him before the national convention of his party meets. He should at least send brother Abner on to take notes.

PRESIDENT MCMATH seems to be very well satisfied with the water supply, but he will not find many to agree with him. The water this year has been viler than ever. It is not above suspicion and it is hard to believe that it is the best obtainable. The jaunty manner with which Mr. McMath refers the whole question to individual householders with the recommendation that they provide themselves with filters is a very sore joke when the high water rates are considered. The public would like some definite information concerning projected improvements.

THAT ZIEGENHEIN CELLAR.

In searching for the facts as to the collection of revenue from saloon licenses the Grand-jury has struck the right trail—the trail that leads to the cellar where Collector Ziegenhein keeps his books.

The Collector's cellar is a remarkable place. Either the darkness is impenetrable or it is arranged on a labyrinthine model, because nothing once put into it ever comes out again. No one has ever been able to get a glimpse of a public record or document of the Collector's office after it has gone to that cellar, sought though it may be with prayers and tears. All the petitions for saloon licenses over which there were disputes, all the lists of checker-board property-owners and the records relating to illegal saloons have disappeared, never to be found again, in that cellar.

Collector Ziegenhein has met all inquiries about his official books and documents with the reply that they were in the cellar and could not be found. This excuse was tried also on the Grand-jury. It was re-enforced by the friendly interposition of Circuit Attorney Zachritz, who looks upon the Ziegenhein cellar as a sanctuary, the sacred place of his political joss.

But the Grand-jury seems obdurate and insists upon having the books, cellar or no cellar. It casts skeptical reflections on its impenetrableness and has sent out a legal process, which has a fetching influence on official documents. The Grand-jury is right; that cellar must be explored. The information it contains, which the Collector seems so anxious to conceal, must be brought to light. Those books must be produced.

HILL'S LOGIC.

Mr. Hill seems to think that any measure which is advocated by Populists is for that reason undemocratic and unjust. This was the principal argument against the income tax in his speech yesterday.

This kind of logic may be highly considered by the class which is trying to escape its proper share of the burden of taxation, but it will not be accepted by Western Democrats.

Mr. Hill asserts that the measure is "advocated and now persistently pushed by a majority which is temporarily in the saddle in this Congress and is driving the Democratic party with reckless and headlong speed into the abyss of political ruin." This is a proposition equally repugnant to the sentiment of the Western wing of the party. Outside of the New England and Middle States Democrats think that the party has been driven to the brink of political ruin by the so-called "conservatives," who have done all they could to falsify the people's hopes concerning revenue reform and perpetuate a robber system of taxation which they all denounced in the campaign of 1892. Mr. Hill is a conspicuous member of this group of protectionist Democrats who have stolen Republican thunder. He has helped to drive the party in the wrong direction and the depth of that abyss may be ascertained next November.

If the income tax is advocated by the Populists, so much the better for the Populists and so much the worse for the Democrats who oppose it in the face of a large and growing popular demand.

DARWINISM IN THE SENATE.

There was a charming display of courtesy in the Senate yesterday. Senator Allen of Nebraska, in the course of some remarks the day before, had referred to Senator Chandler of New Hampshire as a baboon. This aroused the indignation of the New Hampshire man, who got back at the Populist by telling him he was no gentleman, and did not understand the etiquette of the Senate and the forms of courteous intercourse.

There was a lot more of the same sort, but it will be observed that the Senator from New Hampshire did not deny the Nebraska man's charge. Mr. Allen deliberately made a monkey of a fellow member of the "greatest legislative assembly in the world," and the record goes into history uncontradicted. The retort that Allen was no gentleman was a Roland for an Oliver, but it threw no light upon the curious biological question raised by the granger Senator; nor did it satisfy the desire of the galleries for a debate on natural history which might have relieved the deadly dullness of Senatorial proceedings along courteous lines.

Perhaps the best thing for the country to do is to take both those Senators at their word. The same things have been said about them before by those who are suffering from Senatorial monkeying and now if the current public opinion is confirmed by the testimony of members of the august body itself, it may be accepted as proof. If Senators are going to tell the truth about each other the question of re-election will be very much simplified.

THE interesting exhibit of the Missouri School for the Deaf and Dumb at the annual meeting of the State Teachers' Association has done especial good service in calling attention to the excellent work of this institution and to the opportunity it affords to all unfortunates of this class in the State to secure mental and manual education. It was estimated by the superintendent that 350 deaf mutes in the State are growing up in ignorance through the inability of their parents and friends to pay for their education, and their ignorance or neglect of the free opportunity offered by this school. The institution was founded for poor deaf mutes and provision is made for defraying all expenses by the counties and the State. All that is necessary is that the Superintendent be notified and proper steps taken to put the unfortunate in the way of securing the advantages. This good work may be done and should be done by all who have knowledge of a deaf mute deprived of means of enjoying educational opportunities.

THE testimony brought out in the armor plate investigation is so clear and explicit that nothing save positive disproof can break its force. In order to perpetrate the fraud charged and partially proven, not only a costly and extensive plant was needed, but a thorough organization for purposes of deception. And the trail leads directly toward the heads of the Carnegie company. The testimony of Andrew Carnegie and H. C. Frick under oath would be highly interesting at this juncture.

THERE are not vacancies enough in the navy to provide for the Annapolis graduates this year, and the proposal is gravely made that the navy be enlarged to accommodate these youngsters. This is one of the most remarkable examples of paternalistic logic ever heard. But after practicing the thing for thirty years it is not wonderful that men come to look upon it as a matter of course.

KATE FIELD says she is appalled at seeing Susan Anthony and Anna Shaw join the Populists. She says that Miss Anthony coquetted with Republicans and Democrats, and having been rejected made love to Populism. This is all too true. The story of Miss Anthony's political amours forms a demoralizing chapter of our national history.

PERHAPS the perfect cooking-stove has come. At least a Texas woman has been granted a patent on a cooking-stove. If a woman doesn't know what kind of a stove is needed in the kitchen, who does? No doubt our stove-makers will hasten to communicate with this lady inventor of Texas, who is Mrs. Hayes of Galveston.

THE Chicago Times thinks that "if the modest householder could 'work' his assessor as Sir George M. Pullman does his, the former would not have to pay much more than car fare for taxes." Yet, with all he makes on his assessment, Mr. Pullman is perfectly mum as to any intention he may have of reducing the rates on his upper berths.

GOV. STONE says he has never had the remotest idea of being a possible presidential candidate. Still there are emergencies in politics, and it may not be too late for the Governor to spit on his rabbit foot, use some conjure words and stand prepared for any call his country may make on him.

MR. FILLEY ought to be proud of the name given him by Mr. Estee. Tully is very much like Tullius, which was the name of Cicero. When "de ole man" has become thoroughly warmed up in his great tariff speech, the Romans would find it difficult to realize that he was not their own Marcus Tullius.

THE Hon. Northway of Ohio, just renominated for Congress by the Republicans, has a peffer that might have been grown in Kansas, yet the correspondents do not seem to know that there is such a Statesman as Northway.

The Sewer in Forest Park.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have searched for a suitable name to give the power of the POST-DISPATCH in influencing public opinion; a power it undoubtedly has; "The POST-DISPATCH Lever" will do. Now I wish you would take the long arm of the lever and apply it to the public officials who have in charge the sewer and sanitary system of the city, and persuade them to abate the nuisance in the northeast corner of Forest Park track, caused by the open sewer zigzagging its course through the same, now miscalled the River Des Peres. Inhabitants and strangers visiting our exquisitely lovely park, the lungs of the city, are unfavorably impressed by the stench arising from this open sewer, caused by all the emptyings of Cabanne Place, Chamberlain Park and the Hodiamont region. The river could be tapped at its entrance to the park and a covered sewer laid along its northern line, and connected with the main at Vandeventer avenue. The beautiful River Des Peres, flowing through the park, would soon cleanse itself by rains and be its former self again, and this growing and intolerable nuisance thus be abated.

FILLING THE LAKE.

Water Turned Into the New Lake Bed at Forest Park.

The work of filling the new lake in Forest Park has already commenced. For the past two nights the water has been turned on and has run into the great excavation as fast as pressure could force it through the 4-inch pipe. In spite of this and the fact that already thousands of gallons have been pumped in the thirsty soil has drank it all up as fast as it ran. The seepage is now, however, being gradually reduced and already the water covers the bottom to the depth of a few inches and, in a short time, the beautiful lake will be filled to the brim.

The work of filling the lake can only be conducted at night, as the enormous pressure required would take away the force from the other hydrants in the neighborhood. A good rain or two would help things along materially.

SHE WANTS $10,000.

A Pretty Young Married Woman Sues a Millionaire.

ORANGE, Mass., June 22.—Wm. L. Grout, a millionaire, has been sued in an action of contract by Mrs. Mary R. Sherwin, who has been his traveling companion for a year or more. She asks $10,000 damages. She alleges that Mr. Grout promised to pay her a certain sum of money, which he has failed to do.

Mrs. Sherwin is a bright and winsome woman of 24 years and has many accomplishments, while Mr. Grout is 60 years of age. Her husband is a young man of high character, and apparently the young couple loved each other devotedly, but when the story of her intimacy with Mr. Grout became public Mr. Sherwin left his wife. Mrs. Sherwin cut a decided figure at Saratoga in Mr. Grout's company, and she spent last winter with him in California. It was recalled that Mr. Grout, last winter, obtained a divorce in Arizona and that his wife has an action pending in this State for divorce and has attached his property for $100,000.

ANTI-BRECKINRIDGE BANNER.

It Is Torn Into Shreds by His Admirers.

HINTON, W. Va., June 22.—Col. W. C. Breckinridge passed through to-day en route from Washington. About 300 citizens assembled at the dépot and made calls for him. He appeared at the car window and shook hands with the multitude whose cheers were deafening. One man not friendly to Breckinridge, pinned up a banner: "Protection to the American Women," which was torn into shreds by the Congressman's admirers.

STUDIO AND FANCY WORK.

Exhibit of Work by St. Joseph's Convent Pupils.

A large gathering of interested spectators assembled yesterday between the hours of 2 and 5, to inspect the exhibit of studio and fancy work at the convent of St. Joseph in Carondelet. SPANISH TREASURE.

An Interesting Search for Buried Wealth Near Sedalia.

SEDALIA, MO., June 22.—Quite an amount of interest has been aroused in Sedalia over the story of a buried treasure, for which two men have been digging for a week or more. Six years ago W. R. Fitzgerald of Sedalia was in the employ of the Mexican National Railway in Mexico. While there he formed the acquaintance of an old Mexican who, when dying, imparted to Fitzgerald a diagram of a spot in Missouri where was buried a large amount of gold and silver. The treasure site has been located, so says Mr. Fitzgerald, about six miles northwest of Sedalia, a few hundred yards from the main traveled road running between Georgetown and Houstonia. The treasure was buried by a band of Spaniards who were escaping from a horde of Indians. Two large stones described in the map have been found and brought to town and the searchers think the third and last has been discovered. It will be removed with dynamite owing to its large size. Fitzgerald has taken into his confidence a Sedalia physician who is a medium. They visited the spot to-day and the spirit of the dead Mexican was called up. The physician repeated the sounds made by the spook to Henry Lenking, a clerk in Keusel's shoe store, who had been taken along as an interpreter, as he speaks Spanish fluently. He was sworn to secrecy and the spook's story was not made public. The searchers are busily at work to-day. The Spaniards are said to have come from Santa Fe over a hundred years ago.

BATTLE OF BANNOCKBURN.

The Scottish Assembly Protests Against the Usual Celebration.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The Scottish Assembly, at a largely attended meeting last night, entered its protest against the celebration of the battle of Bannockburn at the Scotch Presbyterian Church Sunday in a resolution passed which declares that such celebration tends to annoy and to irritate "our English brethren, whom we hold in the highest esteem." The resolutions further characterize the celebration as in bad taste, and should not be encouraged even if it does recall a battle won five centuries ago. In conclusion the resolution invites the English people of Chicago to participate in the picnic of the assembly Aug. 4, and assures them that the prominent Englishmen of Chicago will be made honorary Scottish chieftains upon that occasion to show the assembly has no bitterness for former fellow-citizens of the British Empire.

CONSUL BARTHOLOW.

Why He Is to Be Sent to Mayence Instead of Plauen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—The nomination of Perry Bartholow of Missouri as Consul to Mayence, following so closely after his nomination a few weeks ago as Consul to Plauen, occasioned some little surprise. Bartholow is a prominent young man in St. Louis, is the son-in-law of ex-Gov. Fletcher and a relative of ex-Gov. Francis, who is said to be responsible for his appointment. It seems that among the many promises made by Joseph Quincy, the late Assistant Secretary of State, was one to the friends of Richard Welling Peters, the present Consul at Plauen, that he should not be disturbed. Bartholow did not apply for Plauen, but was anxious to be appointed at Mayence in the first place. When Peters' friends learned that his head was about to fall into the basket, they brought so much influence to bear upon the President that he was induced to withdraw Bartholow's name. The latter was, however, promised "something equally good," and Mayence was selected. Here again the President has encountered a snag. The Mayence consulate is held by James Henry Smith, who was for many years a clerk in the State Department, and graduated therefrom into the consular service. Mr. Blaine once remarked:

"It is an amiable tradition of the Department of State that none of its faithful and trusted officers are removed save that they are provided for elsewhere," and Secretary Gresham was loath to let Mr. Smith go. It is understood, however, that a compromise is about to be effected, by which Smith is to be transferred to a more important as well as a more laborious post. Counting upon his excellent record in the service, his friends are urging him for the Consulate General at Berlin, which is about the best plum yet remaining.

INTER-COLONIAL RAILWAY.

R. C. Kerens Speaks Enthusiastically of the Coming Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis, a member of the Inter-Colonial Railway Co., who has been in the city for the past few days, speakes enthusiastically of the work which has been done and says that when the report of the commission is published it will be found to be more interesting than a novel because of the information of an unknown region that it will contain.

"That country is," he said, "in a brief interval, a sealed book now, but the report which is in preparation will throw a flood of light upon it, and it will, I think, be the means of attracting attention to it as to insure the building of the road. Possibly it will not come in our day," he added, "but there is no reason why the day should be long delayed when a man can get into a palace car and ride to South America. The proposed road will open up the territory of fifteen republics south of Mexico, and the disposition of the people of that region as shown toward our engineers, is an indication of the favor with which the enterprise will be received. We have received assurance that every country through which the line has been surveyed will make land grants and other concessions to insure the building of the road. The United States will not find it necessary to grant any further aid than that necessary to make the facts known, as will be done in this case. The building of the road will follow as surely as it followed the publication of the reports of the Pacific railroads."

Mr. Kerens says the resources of the region which will be developed by the line will be found to be marvelous.

Bicycle Won.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Postmaster Hesing tested the value of the bicycle as a means of delivering mails. The special delivery messengers were given seven messages each, to be delivered over the same circuit. One of them was given a bicycle, while the other was told to deliver his messages by means of the street cars and elevated roads. The contest resulted in a complete victory for the bicycle man, who made the trip in two hours and forty minutes, his competitor occupying three hours and twenty minutes in making the same trip.

The Denver Mint.

DENVER, Colo., June 22.—Director Puskett of the United States Mint has issued his statement for the fiscal year. The value of the bullion operated upon at Denver was $3,240,000, of which $3,220,000 was gold, the remaining being silver. This is a gain over the fiscal year of [illegible] of $1,[illegible],000, of 12 6-7 per cent.

WHAT-NOT CORNER.

FASHIONS FROM PARIS.

This illustration is from a series designed for the WORLD and POST-DISPATCH.

A Promenade Gown by Doucet.

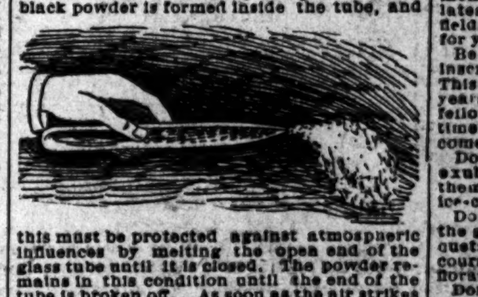

This promenade frock was designed for the POST-DISPATCH by Doucet. It is of black point d'esprit over China silk. The skirt is gathered at the waist and is trimmed with a deep flounce of chiffon. The round bodice is slightly low in the neck, and is outlined by a plaited frill of turquoise-blue chiffon. A turquoise-blue satin belt fastens the bodice, and the elbow sleeves are caught with blue ribbon bows. A black sailor trimmed with blue completes the costume.

NOVEL FIREWORKS.

Try It on the Fourth and Amuse Your Friends.

Written for the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

The following experiment makes a pretty and novel fireplece. In a green glass tube closed at one end heat over a flame dry pulverized oxalate of iron until it becomes red hot, when you must hold the tube under a stream of cold water. By this process a fine black powder is formed inside the tube, and this must be protected against atmospheric influences by melting the open end of the glass tube until it is closed. The powder remains in this condition until the end of the tube is broken off. As soon as the air strikes the powder it begins to burn at a lively rate, and by holding the tube to slant a beautiful and brilliant rain of sparks falls out.

DESSERTS FOR WARM DAYS.

Apricot Sorbet—Take twelve fine, sound apricots, wipe carefully, cut them in two, remove the stones and put them in a vessel with half a pound of powdered sugar, mashing them thoroughly. Then take two ounces of bitter almonds, peel and wash these while wet, add one gill of cold water and one ounce of powdered sugar, mashing the whole together. Place a muslin cloth over the vessel containing the mashed apricots, and through it press the almond mixture. Stir all this together for four minutes; then add the juice of three lemons and a pint and a half of cold water. Beat thoroughly, then strain through a fine sieve into the freezer and freeze as you do ice cream.

Pineapple Sherbet—Take one quart grated pineapple, two heaping tablespoonfuls of gelatine dissolved in hot water, one quart of water, one quart of sugar, the juice of one large lemon and the whites of two eggs well beaten, to be put in just before freezing.

Orange Frappee—One pint of orange juice, one pint of water, one pint of sugar, the juice of two lemons, the grated rind of two oranges. Partially freeze and pack in ice only.

Frozen Apples—Put two quarts of water and a pint of sugar on to boil in a large stewpan. Boil for a quarter of an hour and then add ten large, tart apples, pared, quartered and cored. Cook until the fruit will mash readily—say about half an hour, then break up with a spoon and put away to cool. When cold freeze like ice cream. The mixture will be light and creamy when finished, and makes a pleasing and cheap dessert for a change. The juice of three oranges is a great improvement if added to this mixture.

Hints to the Graduate.

Don't patronize your parents too openly. Of course they are comparatively ignorant and uncultured persons, but they are still useful in the financial sense.

When on your summer wanderings you meet a famous scientist or philologist remember that it is your duty to tell him of the latest results of research in his particular field. He will hold you in grateful memory for your interest and kindness.

Be sure to have each member of your class inscribe her name upon her photograph. This may seem cold blooded now, but in two years you will have forgotten most of your fellow students—which is awkward when the time for them to send wedding presents comes.

Do not make a bonfire of your books in the exuberance of your joy in being through with them. Sell them to the next class and buy ice-cream soda with the proceeds.

Do not loudly asseverate your belief that the girl who received more graduating bouquets than you bought them herself. Such a course will throw suspicion on your own floral offerings.

Don't promise every girl in the class that you will write to her during the summer. Of course you will, but let the epistles come as a sweet surprise to some of the girls.

A Parlor Trapeze Performer.

Written for the POST-DISPATCH.

The picture illustrates a clever toy easily made. An empty spool is taken, and the center hole made larger with a red hot poker. Then a pencil sharpened at both ends is pushed through the hole, in which it must turn freely. Two pieces of cork are fastened to each end of the pencil, and two knives are stuck into these, as shown by the picture. The two knives will balance the spool. The trapeze is made of two strings and a pencil, and any kind of a small doll can be tied to it. A piece of cord tied to a picture-nail near the ceiling and forming an inclined plain forms the tight rope. The cord is wrapped once around the spool, and the trapeze artist begins immediately to sail down the cord to the great amusement of the children.

British Wealth.

In a recent report to the London Stock Exchange Secretary Burdett estimates the total amount invested abroad by England and Scotland as reaching the enormous figure of $5,000,000,000. The wealth of British investors is placed in railways, mines, lands, manufactories, tramways, gas and electric light works, in bonds and shares and a hundred other investments from Mexico to India and from Hongkong to Halifax. The British people are the boldest, the most intrepid adventurers of their money on the planet. They will take greater risks than any other nation, and it is because they have been bold that they are to-day the landlords of the world and sit at home receiving their interest and dividends.

An Alleged New Metal.

From the London Court Journal.

The low price of silver in Paris has stimulated the inventive genius of a manufacturer, who has consequently made a new metal by means of an alloy of copper and silver, using the successful proportions of the two. He has really obtained an entirely new metal, one of a most extraordinary degree of strength, and most valuable for resisting sudden or long sustained strains. There seems little doubt that the cost of production will not be so great as to prevent its large use in the future, even should silver greatly increase in value. To the low price of silver will be credited the idea of using it as an amalgam for a specially high class of metal.

A Dry Shampoo.

Many women whose tresses are so luxurious as to be too long drying after being wet, take a dry shampoo. The hair should be shaken loosely out over the shoulders and the head well manipulated with the fingers; the hair should then be thoroughly brushed with a stiff brush, to remove all foreign matter. A good hair tonic may then be rubbed on, the hair gently combed out from all snarls and the ends clipped.

SHOULD BE ABATED.

The Des Peres Nuisance in Forest Park Seriously Offensive.

DR. HOMAN ADVISES REMOVAL OF THE OBSTRUCTIONS IN THE CHANNEL.

Dr. Jordan of the Dispensary Gives a Warning Concerning the Approach of Sunstroke—Mr. Murphy Wants the City to Widen Union Depot Streets.

Many complaints have recently been received by Health Commissioner Homan of the unsanitary condition of a portion of the River Des Peres flowing through Forest Park, so frequent had these complaints become that sanitary officer made an investigation of the condition of the river, the result o which he embodies in a report made to the Health Commissioner a few days ago.

He finds that the main branch of the river is in good condition, but that portion from Union avenue, just below where the Catlin sewer empties its filth into the stream to the south line of the park, is in a very bad condition. East of Union avenue the water is in a perfectly stagnant condition and the stenches which arise are a menace to health and a vile nuisance.

He found that at intervals of every 100 yards or so obstructions were to be found in the stream in the shape of branches of trees, etc., which formed miniature dams and greatly impeded the flow of the river. He recommends that these be removed, and that the higher branch be opened up a little; also that during the summer months copperas be liberally used in the water as a disinfectant. He thinks that in this manner the nuisance could be obviated at a small expense.

For Treating Sunstroke Cases.

With the hot weather the City Health Department is making the usual preparations for handling the cases of sunstroke and heat prostration which they are always called upon to attend to during the heated season.

Dr. Jordan mentions the following premonitory symptoms of sunstroke and heat prostration. In sunstroke the victim is first attacked by headache, vertigo and a general feeling of malaria, accompanied by excessive weakness, a dry skin and great rise in temperature. Unless proper measures are taken at once, in a moment or two he loses consciousness and sinks in a heap to the ground. Sunstroke is congestion of the brain and generally follows loss of sleep, caused by the temperature at night being too great to allow the patient to secure proper rest.

Heat prostration differs somewhat from sunstroke, in that the temperature of the body frequently sinks below normal and the patient must be treated by stimulants. It may supervene without exposure to the sun and is the result of a poor physical condition.

At the Dispensary the patient is treated by the application of ice bags and of cold water. At the City Hospital he is at once immersed in a bath, the water in which is somewhat lower in temperature than his body. It is generally considered inadvisable to apply water too cold, as the shock to the system in this evnet is very often attended by serious, if not fatal consequences.

Should Widen Union Depot Streets.

Street Commissioner Murphy at the last meeting of the Board of Public Improvements submitted to the board two propositions, one to widen Eighteenth street from Market to Clark avenue and the other to widen Market street between Eighteenth and Twentieth. Over the first proposed improvement the feeling of the board seems to be favorable, since such a recommendation was embodied in their annual report made to the Mayor yesterday. The second measure will, however, probably provoke a lively discussion. In its report the board stated that the Union Depot Co. had violated its contract in building right upon the building line of Market street, instead of some forty feet back, as stipulated.

President McMath says that he does not see how the board can ask innocent property holders to pay for the faults of the Depot Co. He and every one else knew that Market street should be widened, and of course the company would have to pay its assessed share. There was no way, he said, by which they could be held responsible for the whole amount. Some of the members were in favor of widening Market street and some were not.

Both resolutions were referred to the Committee on Streets.

New Waterworks Boilers.

Word was received by Commissioner Holman yesterday that the boilers for the new Waterworks were ready for shipment and would be forwarded in the near future. Everything will be ready upon their arrival for the work of getting them into place. No accurate estimate could be obtained as to when they would be placed into operation, but it is said that it is now a matter of weeks only.

City Hall Notes.

The Commissioner of Supplies yesterday awarded the contract for supplying flour to the Poor-house and House of Refuge for three months to Fusz & Backer at $2.78¼ per barrel. The contracts for feed for the same term were let to H. G. Beck, J. H. Bobring, the H. H. Lippelmann Hay and Grain Co. and the Great Western Feed Co. The contract for supplying oats was not awarded owing to the high price of the bids.

The Board of Health, at its meeting yesterday, took up a complaint of citizens respecting a pool of stagnant water in an abandoned quarry at Twenty-fifth and Montgomery streets. John B. O'Meara, who owned the quarry, said that as the city had established an alley across the pond they should abate the nuisance. The matter was referred to the Street Commissioner. A well at 214 and 216 South Stein street was condemned.

The Board of Managers of the House of Refuge met yesterday at the Mayor's office to receive the monthly report for May. The number of inmates on May 31 was 327, or 283 boys and 94 girls. The expenditures amounted to $3,533.81.

The question of annulling the contract for labor in the shoe shop on account of violation of contract was discussed, but nothing was done.

In the House of Delegates this morning E. S. Pike will introduce a bill requiring the City Register to furnish the press with a list of all persons receiving salaries from city funds. CHURCH NEWS.

New York Salvation Army Slum Workers Coming—Notes.

Maj. Emma Bowens of New York, at the head of the Slum Work Department of the Salvation Army will arrive in the city next Tuesday and will confer with the local officers touching the establishment of a slum post in this city. She will be accompanied by the two young women who are to be the garrison of the slum post. It is believed that Maj. Bowens will not be disposed to have the work of the slum sisters given much publicity. Indeed, it is said that their identity and abode will not be disclosed for some time. The reason given is that were it known to the denizens of the neighborhood in which the post is to be located, that the sisters are professional evangelists, the net results of good accomplished will be small. The slum sisters hope to be as a leaven, working quietly upon the moral characters of the submerged tenth. They will compel their neighbors to respect them, and in time to follow in their footsteps.

Christian Endeavor Convention.

The St. Louis and Missouri members of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor are preparing for the thirteenth International Convention to be held at Cleveland, O., July 11 to 15. AGAINST CLEVELAND.

Letter From Gov. Stone Read at the Omaha Conference.

OMAHA, Neb., June 22.—The feature of the Democratic Silver Conference here yesterday was the reading of a letter from Gov. Stone of Missouri in which he severely criticized the National Administration. The Governor said that the Democratic party was all torn up over the question of silver, the Eastern members of the party wanting to drag the white metal down into the dust, while the loyal Democrats of the South, the West and the Northwest were in favor of its being restored at the ratio of 16 to 1.

He declared the money power of the East dominated the party, who were in with the Administration, opposing bimetallism and refusing restoration to the place which it occupied prior to 1873, when he thought silver was raped by the Republican Administration. He affirmed that John Sherman and Grover Cleveland were cut from the same piece of cloth, so far as their financial views were concerned. The stupidity of the Administration at Washington was the worst kind of stupidity, and was sufficient to evoke the saints to profanity.

Palmer Stands by the Administration.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—As stated in yesterday's telegram to the POST-DISPATCH, Senator Palmer invited the members of the Illinois delegation to his room, and read to them a letter addressed to Jesse H. Webb of McLeansboro, Ill., in answer to one he had received from that gentleman, asking for his views on the silver question. The Senator advocates and quotes from the Chicago platform, "the use of gold and silver to be coined upon equel terms, the dollar of each metal to be of equal value in the markets and in the payment of debts." Senator Palmer opposes the sixteen to one ratio as tending to bring about silver monometalism. All the members of the delegation were present except Williams and Hunter. Of those present, only Fithian and Lane opposed the Senator's view. The letter will be used as an official declaration at the State convention to be held next week.

California Republicans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 22.—The complete State ticket of the Republicans is as follows:

Governor, Morris M. Estee; Lieutenant-Governor, C. Millard of Los Angeles; Justices of the Supreme Court, Elisha S. Torrence of San Diego and F. W. Henshaw of Oakland; short term, W. C. Vanfleet of San Francisco; Controller, E. P. Colgan of Sonoma; Treasurer, Levi Radcliffe of San Louis Obispo; Attorney-General, W. F. Fitzgerald of San Francisco; Surveyor-General, M. J. Wright.

A resolution of eulogy of the late Senator Stanford and of sympathy with Mrs. Stanford was passed.

New Party Candidate.

DES MOINES, Io., June 22.—The Industrial party, a new organization, combining all sorts of labor and money parties, has placed in nomination J. H. Barcroft of Des Moines for candidate for Congress in the Seventh Iowa district.

Texas Populists.

WACO, Tex., June 22.—The Populist State Convention nominated the following ticket: Hon. T. L. Nugent of Fort Worth was nominated for Governor; Marion Martin of Navarro County for Lieutenant-Governor; R. V. Bell, Attorney-General; Henry E. McCulloch, Treasurer; S. C. Granbury, Land Commissioner.

Political Drift.

The Fourteenth Illinois Congressional District Republicans nominated Winfield S. Kerr.

A. W. Benson of Huntington, Ind., was nominated for Congress by the Populists.

The Seventh Iowa Industrial Party nominated Judge J. H. Bancroft of Des Moines for Congress.

The Democrats of Tazewell County, Ill., send uninstructed delegates to the State, Senatorial and Congressional conventions.

Judge Orlando Burrell received the Republican nomination at Fairfield yesterday for Congressman from the Twentieth Illinois District.

The Twentieth Illinois Congressional District Democratic Convention yesterday renominated Hon. J. R. Williams at Mount Vernon.

George W. Grubbs (Rep.) was renominated in the Fifteenth Indiana Judicial District. Joseph Williams was renominated for Prosecuting Attorney.

Gov. Hogg of Texas made a speech to the New York Constitutional Convention at Albany. He said: "I wish you God speed in your revision of laws which secure human liberty."

Republican editors of the Nineteenth Illinois Congressional District organized with F. T. Lawson, Effingham Republican, President; C. W. Twitchell, Mattoon Journal, Secretary and Treasurer.

Democrats of Morgan County, Ill., ignored the State and National Administrations in their resolutions, though they indorsed the platforms of 1892.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—Quite a number of bills were passed before the consideration of the tariff bill was resumed by the Senate to-day. The following bills were also passed: Senate bill for the relief of Charles College, Missouri (being a payment for property during the war). ARCHBISHOP TACHE DEAD.

The Prelate of St. Boniface Dies at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Manitoba, June 22.—Archbishop Tache suffered from a relapse during the night and died at 9 o'clock this morning.

Archbishop Tache was 71 years old, a native of Canada, and studied theology in the Seminary of Montreal. Early in life he became a monk of the Oblate Order and did missionary work among the Indians. In 1845 he was raised to the priesthood, but continued his labors among the red men. His zeal and talents became known throughout the Dominion, and in 1850 he was recommended for the post of Coadjutor Bishop of St. Boniface. One year later he was summoned to France and consecrated Bishop of Arath in the Cathedral of Viviers. Returning to Canada he set about founding new missions and building schools and convents. His efforts were also directed toward establishing a French-Canadian population in the Northwest.

He was of great assistance to the Canadian Government in settling the political troubles growing out of the insurrections in the Northwest country in '69 and '70. St. Boniface was erected into a metropolitan in 1871, and Bishop Tache was made archbishop.

Charles W. Steele, manager of the Independence Mine, who accidentally shot himself at his boarding-house in Colorado Springs several days ago, died at 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

CHARGED WITH KEEPING CHANGE.—Clarence Walthen, 12 years old, was arrested at his home, 1728 Ohio avenue, yesterday afternoon. Pierce Guarantees a Cure.

Keyser, N. C.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—When about three years old I was taken with mumps, also had fever, finally I had that dreaded disease Scrofula. The most eminent physicians in this section treated me to no avail. I had running scrofulous sores on left side of neck and face. I was small and weakly when eight or nine years old, and in fact was nearly a skeleton. Six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery wrought marvelous changes. Although the sores were healed in eight months, I did not quit taking it until I was sure it had been entirely routed from my system. The only signs left of the dreadful disease are the scars which ever remind me of how near death's door I was until rescued by the "Discovery." I am now eighteen years old and weigh 148 pounds; and have not been sick in five years.

SHANGHAIED THE WRONG MAN.

Blundering Sailors Changed the Course of a Love Affair.

TRAPPED BY HIS OWN VILLAINY.

"It was this way," prefaced the old sailor, filling his pipe. He struck a match, took a pull or two, and then gave the following story:

"I'd been off in the little trader Nydia—Cap'n Mark Hazard—on a trading run to the Sandwich Islands.

"We came into port one fine morning, unloaded our cargo, and the vessel having to go into dry dock most of her crew, me included, had nothing to do but stroll about and spend our money.

"One afternoon when we were lounging about a trim sharp-eyed young fellow in a long coat passed us on his way uptown.

"He had on his arm the sweetest-faced young girl I ever set my eyes on.

"She wasn't more'n 18, her hair was like gold and she was as trim as a yacht.

"Well, I hadn't a thought of any of us seeing each other again, and I don't think Bob thought anything at all about it; but an hour later the same sharp-eyed young fellow who had been the young girl's companion came up to us and passed a word or so about the weather.

"'When do you sail and for what place?' he asked, after a little time, addressing his talk to Bob.

"'We're out of a berth,' said Bob.

"The young fellow was going to leave us when Bob said that, only a man standing close by us turned out to be a skipper short of hands, and we signed with him for a whaling voyage to the Windward Islands—he coming over to us when he heard Bob say he wasn't hired, and hiring us then and there.

"His schooner, the Nancy, he said, was lying three piers down the westward and was to pull out at about 3 o'clock in the morning.

"The young fellow asked us to go along with him when things were settled.

"'What tack are you drivin' at, anyway?' Bob asked when we had stopped in a quiet doorway; 'speak up, for we're your men.'

"'Well, it's this,' the sharp-eyed young fellow said. 'I want to play a joke on a friend of mine, and you two will be paid for helping me.'

"'Orders?' said Bob.

"'At about 12:30 o'clock to-night come up to —,' and he gave us the name of a boarding-house that I forget the name of, 'and go up to the second floor. The man I want you to take on the cruise with you is in room 32, about the head of the stairs. Go in quietly, chloroform him and take him down-stairs to a hack I'll have waiting in front of the house.' And'—

"'Enough said,' Bob interrupted. 'I've done the thing before. Smuggle him aboard, and when he gets his senses back he won't know who brought [illegible] and we won't be likely to tell him.'

"'How about the pay for the job?' Bob wanted to know.

"'I'll give the hackman $5 to give each of you when he sees you've done the thing,' said he.

"'That's agreeable,' said Bob. 'How can we get into his room—the fellow's you want to joke?'

"'It just so happens that the lock to his door has been broken for the last week and he has been unable to fasten it,' said the young, sharp-eyed fellow. 'We're in luck, you see.'

"It turned out afterward that he—his name was Fink Campbell—was in love with the pretty, sweet-faced girl we'd seen him with.

"Her name was Elsa Horton, or I make a mistake.

"And she was in love with the chap this Campbell hired us to kidnap—a handsome, manly young fellow, whose name was Fred Kingsley, and who loved her for her sweet face and not for the money her old father was said to have, the way young Campbell did.

"Then he got her—she and young Kingsley, it seemed, were to be married in a few days—to say, without thinking, that if Fred Kingsley didn't appear when it was time for the wedding she'd marry him—as girls talk sometimes, you know.

"Then he must have begun to scheme how to get Frank Kingsley out of the way, or perhaps he had the scheme all made up at first.

"Bob and I bought a new fit-out, and took our bags aboard the Nancy.

"Then about 12 o'clock or a little after, we struck out for the boarding-house our employer had told us to visit.

"Campbell forged a letter and fixed it so Elsie's father and she would get it, and it had Fred Kingsley's name at the bottom of it, and said as how he was sorry, but he had a wife somewhere and he was going off to see her.

"The upper hall was not so very dark, we found, when we got up to it.

"Bob went around and looked at the numbers on the doors, and I waited until he beckoned me to join him.

"'He's asleep,' said Bob, with a jerk of his head toward the door.

"It was a bit darker than the hall, but we could make out our man sleeping on the bed.

"Bob took the chloroform and fixed the cloth with it on, where the young fellow had to breathe it.

"A policeman was coming down the street when we got to the door, but the cabman saw him and gave us the word not to come out for a bit.

"We wasn't bothered again, and we got our fellow aboard the Nancy all quiet and peaceable, and the cabbie gave us the money and was off.

"Then on deck we went, and the Nancy sailed at 3, just as the Captain had said she was going to, running out with the tide.

"'There's a stowaway below in the fo'castle!' some one sang up from there when we were in a nice offing and Bob looked at me and winked.

"The mate dived below and came up again with the seasickest looking fellow in tow I ever see.

"The fellow's legs were like a shoestring and his face was white as a new topgallant sail.

"Would you believe it, but we'd not only shanghaied the wrong fellow, but shanghaied the one that had hired us to do the shanghaing, and it was too late to get back and do the job over again.

"When young Campbell got well enough to talk he gave us a piece of his mind and he tried to get the Captain to put back with him, but that wasn't no use and he had to take the eight months' run with us—not much fun for a masher like him, I can tell you.

"It turned out that the way we came to make the mistake was because he and young Kingsley roomed in the same boarding-house, and one's room was No. 32 and the other's room was 23.

"Bob got the numbers turned round, and we'd gone to 23 instead of 32.

"And when we got back in port, if there wasn't a bit of news!

"Young Campbell's disappearance had caused an examination of the books he was keeping in the same warehouse, and it was found out that he had been stealing from the firm.

"He hadn't been on shore three hours before the police had him locked up.

"The young fellow had proved that he was straight as a gunbarrel to every one's satisfaction, and in an old paper dated about when the Nancy was two months out of port was a notice of Fred Kingsley's and Elsie Horton's wedding."—[illegible]

HELD ON THE FLOOR

Amos Schultz a Prisoner While His Office Furniture Was Removed.

A ROW BETWEEN HIM AND HIS PARTNER RESULTS IN AN AMUSING RAID.

The Partner, Wm. C. Smith, Hired Three Men to Go With Him and Take Possession of the Office—All Parties Arrested.

A rather ludicrous story came to light in the First District Police Court this morning, in a case of disturbing the peace. The principal defendants are Amos H. Schultz, an old man, and Wm. C. Smith, who until recently composed the real estate firm of Schultz & Co., with an office at 2808 South Jefferson avenue. The other defendants are Louis Falk, Henry Smith and John Dolan, all residents of the same locality.

The trouble which brought these five men into court had been on the brewing for some weeks past and culminated in a cyclone last evening about o'clock. Until about three months ago Schultz had had other partners in the real estate business, but about this time he alone was interested in the business. It is said that he grew weary of carrying all the weight of the concern on his shoulders, and advertised for a partner. William C. Smith answered the ad, and decided to go into business with Schultz. He gave the latter, he says, $300 and a promissory note of $150 in order to become partner, and it was agreed, it is said, that they should divide the profits equally between them. Smith claims that he was not long in partnership with Schultz until he discovered that the old man was not treating him squarely. A commission of $20, he claims, would be recorded as $10 by Schultz. He got mad at this, and says that he gave Schultz to understand that he did not want to be fooled with in this manner. Mr. Schultz also got mad, and from this time on the partners were at loggerheads.

About four days ago, Smith came to the office only to find the door locked. The old key he carried would not open the door, and he concluded that Schultz had changed the lock. Schultz told him he didn't care to have him about the place, and devised this means to keep him out of the place. Smith opened an office across the street, and claims that when he demanded the return of his promissory note. Schultz refused to give it up. Things ran along in this way until last evening, when Smith determined to secure something in return for his investment in the real estate business. He hired Louis Falk, Henry Smith and John Dolan and accompanied them across the street into Schultz's office. Smith notified Schultz that he had come for the office furniture since he could not get anything else. He ordered Falk, Dolan and Henry Smith to go to work and as they did so Schultz interfered. Wm. Smith, his former partner, seized the old man, however, and, throwing him to the floor, sat on him while his men were moving out the safe and desks and chairs into the street. Schultz screamed for help and shouted "murder" and "thieves," and the whole neighborhood was aroused. Search was made for a police officer, but none could be found. Finally one of the neighbors ran to Officer Morgan's house near-by and aroused the officer from his slumber, telling him that "Old" Schultz was being murdered. Officer Morgan hastily repaired to the scene and found Smith sitting on his struggling partner, while the three men were dragging out the office contents. He tried to get an explanation, but failed and finally took all of them to the Fifth District station, where cross charges of disturbing the peace were preferred against Schultz and Wm. Smith and the three hired men.

Mr. Schultz went his own security, while W. J. Lewis, also a real estate dealer, bailed out the Smith faction. This morning the cases were continued until June 27. All parties were present in court and all talked but Schultz. He would say nothing. His attorney is Judge Cunningham, while John F. McDermott represents the other side.

A CHILD TRAVELER.

An 11-Year-Old Boy En Route From France to San Francisco.

Pierre Joseph Jande, aged 11 years and 6 months, arrived at the Union Depot this morning on the Vandalia road, traveling alone from L'Aons, France, to San Francisco, Cal., to join his parents. The boy stated that he was left by his parents in France when he was only 6 months old and has not seen them since. He does not know what business his father is in. His information is that when his parents left France it was feared that he could not stand the voyage and he was left in care of a nurse. When he grew old enough he was sent to school. The reason his parents left him so long, the boy stated, was that they wanted him to learn the French language. The boy can speak no English and Officer Kinsinger acted as interpreter. The boy leaves to-night on the Missouri Pacific. He has a through ticket for San Francisco, which was furnished by his father.

HOTTENDALE, Pa., June 22.—Notices were posted to-day by the United Colliers company at Mount Vernon Mines Nos. 5 and 6 notifying the men that the colliers would start in Monday at the old rate of 50 cents per gross ton. The notices created excitement throughout the region, as the companies seemed determined not to pay more than 40 cents per gross ton. The men are in readiness to start on Monday.

TROOPS AT WALSTON.

Foreign Miners Ordered to Vacate—Trouble Anticipated.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., June 22.—The troops arrived at Pock this morning and by 10 o'clock had surrounded Walston without a shot being fired, except the accidental discharge of a cavalryman's carbine. When the troops reached the Bell Lewis & Co.'s land, skirmish lines were formed and a full search made for ambushed strikers and cannons, but although evidence were seen where the Italian batteries had been planted, the cannon has disappeared. The foreigners were greatly excited at the appearance of the blue coats with glistening bayonets. Early to-day Walston was filled with men, women and children while great crowds of foreigners were stationed on the barren hills overlooking the town. At the approach of the militia they appeared to melt away, running into the houses and making a break for the woods. The 5th and 16th regiments are here under command of Gen. Wiley and Lieut.-Gen. Greenland. They have with them the Sheridan cavalry from Tyrone, together with a battery of two gatling guns and two 24-pound cannons. This afternoon the coal company notified all foreigners to vacate the company's premises and those refusing will be evicted. Gens. Greenland and Wiley are now making arrangements to quell the mob. The feeling is ugly and much excitement prevails, as a collision is expected before long. Last night the Huns and Italians raided the company's stores at Walston and Adrian and entirely cleaned them out.

MIXED BATTLE.

Fight Between Hungarian and Native Miners at Desloge, Mo.

DESLOGE, Mo., June 22.—The Desloge Consolidated Lead Mines was the scene of quite a war yesterday between the Hungarian miners and the native miners, originating early by a fist and skull fight between a native mine foreman and a Hungarian shoveler, in which the native foreman had the better of it, on account of which all the Hungarians quit the diggings and went to the saloon and imbibed freely. When the native miners came in a pitched battle was fought between the two nationalities, in which many cuts and bruises were made, and one Hungarian was badly used up and not able to get away with his fellows. The way the situation now looks these diggings will not be healthy for Hungarians in the future.

Accepted the Scale.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., June 22.—The D. P. Willis mines at the old Fair Grounds started to work to-day at the Springfield scale with the full force of old men. Pool's mine also started, giving $1 per ton for clean coal over the screen, delivered to the company, nothing being allowed for nut coal or screenings. Both of the above mines are hand mines and have no machines. Mills, hotels, etc., will now return to coal, which will be sold at an advance of about 10 per cent above prices before the strike. The machine mines of the Big Muddy Coal and Iron Co. and Gartside show no sign of starting.

Differences Adjusted.

VANDALIA, Mo., June 22.—The striking miners and the operators have about adjusted their troubles here except the discharge of a colored man who failed to go out with the strikers. The operators refuse to accede to the demand.

New Mine at Mt. Vernon.

MT. VERNON, Ill., June 22.—The coal shaft which Messrs. Guthrie and Atkinson have been sinking in this city was completed today. The mine is 860 feet deep, the vein of coal being six feet in thickness.

Echoes of the Coal Strike.

Bell County (Ky.) mines are now in full operation.

The Nashville (Ill.) miners have accepted a 50 cent rate on forked coal and went to work this morning. This is a slight gain over the anti-strike rate.

The trouble at the Fairbury (Ill.) mines is over. Everything is now running at full blast.

A majority of the Taylorville (Ill.) miners have accepted the operators' scale which is the same as that before the reduction of April 10.

At the request of the Alum Cave, Hymera and Jackson Hill miners of Shelburn, Ill., the Star City miners quit work yesterday until a settlement is reached in that district.

The miner's conference at Pittsburg, Kan., adjourned without accomplishing any results.

Charles W. Steele, Mine Foreman and Columbus M. Wright of Cripple Creek, died yesterday of accidental wounds, and Thomas Wilson of Colorado City from the effects of a clubbing by miners. They were Deputy Sheriffs in the Cripple Creek trouble.

PRESIDENT'S POWER.

Where State Authorities Neglect He May Call Out Troops.

DENVER, Colo., June 22.—Judge Advocate General Sharpe of Gen. McCook's staff received a letter yesterday from Judge Advocate General Lieber of the United States Army, Washington, affirming that the President can call out the national troops of his own accord to suppress insurrection or riots which the state authorities neglect to suppress.

Arrested at Berlin for Writing Anonymous Letters.

A SENSATION INVOLVING A NUMBER OF NOBLE FAMILIES.

Communications Which Led Husbands to Suspect Their Wives and Fathers Their Sons and Daughters—The Police Were After the Writer for Four Years—The Count Examined by Physicians and Supposed to Be Insane.

BERLIN, June 22.—A sensation in court was caused by the announcement to-day that Count Von Kotz, one of the masters of ceremony of the Imperial Court, was arrested on Sunday last on a most extraordinary charge. The arrest of Count Von Kotz is the result of four years of patient police investigation. During all that period members of the highest aristocracy of Germany have been in receipt of anonymous letters and postal cards. These missives, in most instances, were used by the anonymous writer to make the most indecent personal accusations either against the persons to whom they were addressed or against their intimate friends or dearest relatives. Nothing seems to intimate the objects of his venomous attacks, and the result was that very bitter feelings were caused in many worthy families. Husbands were led to suspect their wives, fathers learned to doubt their sons, daughters began to look suspiciously upon their mothers, life-long friends were separated, and, in brief, irreparable wrong was done in a great number of noble families.

In a number of cases it would seem the people who received the communications instead of tearing them up brooded over them and did exactly what the writer wished them to do. In other instances the persons who received these scandalous epistles placed them in the hands of the police. After a long and patient work they discovered the source of these despicable missives. On Sunday last, County Von Kotz, upon returning from a visit to Schriberiber's Hall, Prussia, was arrested in the city by Gen. Von Hahnk, Chief of the Emperor's military cabinet and aide de camp to his majesty, charged with being the author of these long series of slanders. Shortly after the arrest, upon the suggestion of Gen. Von Hahnk, who personally examined the prisoner, physicians were sent for in order that Von Kotz's mental condition might be determined. It was shown that the prisoner's father died in an asylum for the insane, and the examining physician's opinion was that his son was the victim of mania. The inquiry is proceeding.

The general opinion seems to be that as a convenient way out of a most disgraceful affair Von Kotz will be confined in an asylum.

THE CZAR'S LIFE.

An Attempt to Explode a Mine Under His Train Discovered.

BERLIN, June 22.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that the Russian police have discovered a mine which was intended to explode before the train conveying the Czar to army maneuvers. The mine was on the line of the Orel-Witebsk Railroad. The regicidal plot is said to be the work of Nihilists. In consequence of the discovery the Czar, it is asserted, has decided to abandon his intention of attending the opening of the Memorial Church at Borki.

RIOTS IN MADRID.

Conflicts Between Gendarmes and Peasants With Fatal Results.

MADRID, June 22.—The province of Pontevedra is in a greatly disturbed state owing to opposition upon the part of the peasantry to the collection of taxes. Serious rioting has already occurred and more trouble is anticipated.

During the conflicts which have taken place between the gendarmes, who are collectors, and the peasantry, three of the latter have been killed, and a large number have been more or less severely injured. Many of the gendarmes have been injured, and the authorities are sending reinforcements of police in all directions. In the Bilbao district great distress prevails, and bread riots are feared.

HIS FAITHFUL DOG.

Pat Mahaney's Pet Shares His Imprisonment in a Cell.

Pat Mahaney, a 14-year-old boy, was arrested by Officer Archambault of the Sixth District yesterday for swimming in a pond near the intersection of Prairie and St. Louis avenues. When he was made a prisoner his little black and tan dog, which was waiting on the bank for him, followed to the station and there jumped in a cell with him. He stayed with his master when the boy was transferred to the holdover of the Second District Police Court and when Maloney was brought out for trial the little dog accompanied him up on the witness stand. Judge Manning fined the boy $5 but staid it, and when the lad walked out of court free the dog trotted happily after him.

MARKET REPORT.

There is a well defined suspicion in a good many traders' minds that some of the late bull cables from the continent were put up jobs. It is said that a certain crowd that has been interested in bulling wheat in this country, has been working these strong cables to their own advantage. One member of this bull crowd is a rich St. Louis banker and broker, who is a great bull in wheat.

The Government statement that small grain crops in the Northwest had been permanently damaged by drought, receives this much confirmation from the Minneapolis Market Record, which says: "Some of the early grain here and elsewhere was damaged past hope, and although much of the whole will be restricted in yield, the indications at present are for a larger crop than a few days ago, but more rain is needed."

Settled weather prevails now in Europe, this morning's private and public cables reporting fine, bright weather from France to Germany, where the existing conditions have been adverse. This favorable change is reflected in continental markets, most of which were dull and weak.

The fancy prices lately paid for oats here have drawn out increased shipments to this market. Over forty cars came in past few days and that was more than requirements called for.

Chicago to J. P. Grier: The Van Dusen-Harrington system of elevators reports a decrease of 13 per cent in the Minnesota spring wheat acreage and a decrease of 5.84 per cent in North Dakota, compared with last year.

California is now talking of somewhere near an average yield of wheat this year, instead of the famine crop predicted a few weeks ago.

The Ferd Herold brought in 270 sks new wheat from a lower river point. From now on new wheat should come in daily and steadily increase in volume.

Ben Barnes, who has been out in Kansas for some time, has returned. He predicts the largest corn crop for this year ever raised by this country.

The official estimate makes the Hungarian wheat crop 16,000,000 bu less than last year. This would make the 1894 crop 150,000,000 bu.

Some complaints of too much rain comes from the West, where harvesting had been progressing.

A cable from Buenos Ayres reports great excitement in grain, as German houses were buying all wheat offered and paying above European rates.

ON 'CHANGE.

Grain.

Wheat—The opening was ⅛c lower for July and ⅛c for Sept, but a demand at once took hold of the former month and soon had it up ⅛c, while Sept was inclined to weakness and declined ⅛c. Subsequently was unsettled, and at close there were buyers at declines of ⅛c for July and ⅛c for Aug and Sept from yesterday's close. There was a good deal of rain on the weather map, especially out in Kansas, and Liverpool came in firm at ⅛d advance, but London was quiet, the weather on the continent fine and their markets generally dull and weak and domestic markets bearishly inclined. New York advices were, the continental houses were selling, and United Kingdom buying. Indications were for an early movement to new wheat. Clearances were disappointing, as from four ports only 88,000 bu wheat cleared, though of flour 61,000 pkgs. All the late cables were lower—Liverpool ⅛d, Paris and Antwerp ⅛c and Berlin 1c—but reports of large sales at Duluth for shipment and the increased cash business here had a strengthening effect, and the close was firm.

FUTURES—July opened at 56⅝c, sold at 57c, to 56⅞c, to 57⅛c, back to 56⅝c, to 57c, and latter bid at close. Aug opened at 56⅛c, sold at 56⅛c, and back to 56⅛c, closing at latter. Sept opened at 57⅛c, sold at 57⅛c, had 57⅛@⅛c bid, went down irregularly to 57c, back to 57⅛c, to 57⅛c, and at close 57⅛@⅛c bid.

SPOT GRADES—Lower, but more doing. An outside mill took all the stock left in the Salt warehouse, but local mills' purchases were small. No 2 red sold in United at 56⅛c, to 55⅛c. No 3 red offered at 53c, no bids.

Sales: No 2 red—1,000 bu in United at 55⅛c, 5,000 bu in do at 56⅛c, 1,000 bu in do and 40,000 bu in salt warehouse p t.

SAMPLES—Received, 723 sks and 5 cars local. The market was quiet on account of light offerings and sales were at declines of ½@1c per bu. The demand was tame, but showed signs of improving. Offerings included 270 sks new wheat received by boat. Sales: New red winter—110 sks good No 2 at 58c, 160 at 56⅛c. Old—On this side track—1 car No 3 at 54c, 2 cars ungraded at 55c, 1 car do at 56⅛c. On East track—3 cars No 3 at 55c, 1 car No 2 at 56⅛c.

Corn—The future market started in about ⅛c lower. All other markets were weaker, the weather generally favorable and crop news good. Receipts were light and only about 11 cars local out of 71 cars in, but the cash demand continued small. Foreign markets were quiet or dull and clearances less than 25,000 bu from four ports. A slight rally after the opening was short-lived and the market went lower than before, and at close was ⅛c below yesterday.

FUTURES—July sold from 39⅛c down to 38⅞c, closing at latter. Sept opened at 39⅛c, sold at 39⅛c, off to 39⅛c, and latter asked at close.

SPOT GRADES—Lower for mixed, the demand for which was light, but No 2 white firm and in milling demand at 44c this side. No 2 sold at 39⅛@39⅛c this side, bid 39c for regular, 39⅛c for U. No 3 sold this side at 40⅛c.

Sales: In elevator—No 2, 3 cars this side at 39⅛c, 1 in M at 39⅛c, 1 in Star free of storage at 40⅛c. No 2 white—4 cars this side at 44c. No 3—1 car in M at 39⅛c.

On track: No 2—2 cars f o b East side at 41⅛c. No 2 white—5 cars to arrive at 44c.

SAMPLES—Milling corn scarce and very firm. Sales: 1 car mixed ear East track at 41c, 260 sks choice white at 48c. Skd lots on orders, 47@48c.

Oats—This market was also weak and declined, with not much demand and trading light. Only sales in Sept at 30⅛c, to 30⅛c and back to 30⅛c. July offered on call at 37⅛c, bid 36⅛c.

SPOT GRADES—No 2 offered regular at 49⅛c, bid 45c.

SAMPLES—Received 504 sks and 26 cars. The snap was all out of the market to-day and at the close a complete state of demoralization existed. Early, a few sales were made at about yesterday's range, but the early buyers were soon filled up and the prices went off heavily, the market selling down 4c for mixed and closing weak at the decline. White grades were wanted in limited quantities and only the selections found buyers; the ordinary run was neglected and mainly carried over.

Sales: By sample in special bin—1 car No 2 at 44⅛c.

By sample on track this side—1 car choice No 2 and 3 No 3 white at 49c, 1 No 2 at 48⅛c, ⅛ do at 47⅛c. East Side—1 car No 2 at 46⅛c, 3 do at 45c.

In sacks—Mixed, 51 at 48c, 250 at 50c, 76 p t. White, 119 sks at 51c. Sacked lots on orders, 42 @43c.

Rye—A car No 2 sold to arrive at 53c, which was 3c higher than latest preceding sale.

Hay.

Received, 240 tons; shipped, 80 tons. Trading not quite so active. Best grades of Timothy were strong and medium grades firm. Low grades show no improvement in demand or price. Old Prairie, owing to the increased offerings of new, was neglected; new met a fair demand at steady prices.

Sales this side—1 car mixed at $8.50. Timothy—2 cars fancy, free of storage, at $11, 1 strictly do, free of storage, at $12, 1 strictly fancy at $12. Prairie—Old: 1 car at $6, 1 at $7.50. New—1 car at $7.50, 1 at $8, 1 at $8.25. East side—Timothy, 3 cars at $13, 1 at $13.50, 1 at $14. Straw, car wheat East side at $4.50, 1 do at $5.

The market was rather quiet, but higher and firm at the advance.

Pork—Standard mess firm at $13@13.12½; on orders, $13.50.

Lard—Prime steam nominally 6⅛c, and choice sold at 6.65@6.67½c, but not worth over 6⅛c at close.

Tomatoes—Free offerings and generally in prime condition, but the demand was not large enough to absorb the supply, and prices were easier at 70@80c per 4-basket case for choice; culls and No. 2 less.

Cabbage—Home-grown in fair supply and was billed out at $2 per crate on orders.

Cucumbers—Consigned slow at $1@1.50 per bbl, 60@75c per crate, 40@50c per bu box and 15@25c per ⅓-bu box.

Carrots—New, 25c per doz; on orders more.

Squash—Salable at $1@1.25 per case.

Turnips—Consigned in fair offering, but there was no sale for them. Home-grown sell at 75c per bbl.

Eggs.

Received, 1,777 cases; shipped, 298 cases. Dull and weak even at the ruling low price. The hot weather has cut down the demand, and the stock is coming in in very bad shape. Average run of stock sold at 7c per dozen. Heated, damaged and inferior less.

Butter and Cheese.

Butter—Dull and weak, fancy Elgin selling only in a small way, but there was a very good demand for the lower grades, especially cheap country butter. The separator creamery received from near points has been showing hot weather defects and for that reason sold slow and lower.

Flaxseed—Nominal at $1.15 per bu.

Castor Beans—Nominal at $1.35 per bu.

Wool.

Market firm on combing and wool on that order on account of small receipts and brisk competition for the small offerings. There was a better movement in Texas and Territory stock and with larger receipts and a better selection a good business could be done at the ruling prices:

Sheep—Receipts, 578 head. This market was not very active. The demand being principally for lambs better prices were obtained for them, but as there were no choice sheep offered the trade was slow and not much better than steady prices could be obtained. The very common grades were very dull and the prospects were that several would be held over.

CITY NEWS.

FROM sheer curiosity, Crawford's had one of their office men count the duplicate bills of the receipted bills which are inclosed in every purchaser's parcel for the past two Mondays, with the following exact result, the verification of which will be gladly shown in their counting-room to either friend or foe, in the numerous sheets on which these sales are entered, the salesmen's check lists, or with the duplicates themselves!!

On Monday, June 11, the number of sales made, all of course for cash, were 9,574!! On Monday, June 18, the numbers were 10,-537!! Taking this as an average for the year, which is a low one, as in the fall months the sales are much in excess of those being made in a dull hot month, when so many of our citizens are from home; remembering also that in December the sales in holiday goods swell the total to four, five and six times as much as they are now!! Crawford's find it would take them 6 1-5 days to wait on every man, woman and child in St. Louis, its population being 600,000 souls!! Or putting the facts in another shape, Crawford's sell the whole population of the city of St. Louis 8 1-20 times each year!! Or sell goods to 6,028,000 persons in a year!!

PRIVATE matters skilfully treated and medicines furnished. Dr. Dinsbeer, 814 Pine st.

President George T. Cram of the American Central Insurance Co. and Robert J. Smith of Chicago were the only men on hand and the meeting has been indefinitely deferred. It will probably be held next month. The five excepted cities St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Louisville have been in the union only a year and the overhauling of their affairs will, according to Mr. Cram, be the work of the committee when it meets.

HIS SHOP CLOSED.

Louis Gates' Employes Want Their Wages.

Louis Gates, who has been running a tailor shop in rooms 14 and 15 of the building 219 North Eighth street, has closed the shop and it is said that nine or ten employes have been seeking an interview with him on the salary question since Tuesday morning. He employed a pressman, Sam Fisher, and about nine girls with machines. He claims he has in no manner defrauded them. His employes claim that he owes them two weeks' salary.

The Gas-Stove Combine.

The movement that has been on foot for some time to organize a gas stove combine has evidently not yet culminated successfully. Secretary Stockstrom of the Ringen Stove Co. admits that an attempt had been made to get his company into the combine. The companies said to be negotiating for the combine are the Quick Meal Stove Co., Johnson & Brandon, Geo. M. Clark & Co., Chicago; Baxter Stove Co., Mansfield, O., and the Aurora Stove Co., Schneider & Frankamp Co., Standard Lighting Co., Dangler Stove Co., all of Cleveland, O.

The United Vapor and Gas Stove Co. will be the title of the new company, which it is said will be capitalized for $8,500,000.

For a Brain Stimulant Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. W. F. Toombs, Morrillton, Ark., says: "It is certainly the finest brain stimulant I have found. A teaspoonful one hour after meals, in a glass of water, is the best thing to aid digestion I have used, especially if a little pepsin is added. It is also a fine drink in fever and take it all in all I am well pleased with it, and it has uniformly met my expectations."

Opposes the Subway Plan.

General Manager Lara C. Baker of the Western Union Telegraph Co.'s interests in this city has declared himself most vigorously in regard to the proposed burying of the telegraph, telephone, electric light and all other wires, except trolley wires, in one conduit. He is distinctly opposed to this plan, and his company has a special bill before the Assembly now asking the right to build a special conduit of their own. Mr. Baker says he does not think the plan of putting telegraph and electric light wires in the same conduit feasible, that further he considers the scheme dangerous and one that would cause innumerable delays and inconveniences if adopted.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, makes it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co. printed near the bottom of the package.

NATIONAL SAENGERFEST.

Preparations for the Event at Madison Square Garden.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Flags of the German fatherland float lazily in the faint summer breezes near Madison Square Garden to-day in honor of the national Saengerfest, which is to be held during the next few days. The festivities will be inaugurated this evening with a torchlight procession, which will serve to introduce the thousands of singers to New York. President Cleveland, who is expected to-day, according to the announcement yesterday, will review the procession from the balcony of the Victory Hotel. With him will also be Gov. Flower, Mayor Gilroy, Gov. Hogg, of Texas and the Honorary Committee. The procession will start from Second street and Second avenue at 8 o'clock, proceeding up Second avenue to Fourteenth street, thence to Fourth avenue to Madison Square, passing under the triumphal arch, which will be dedicated to music and singing, to Fifth avenue and up the avenue to Fifty-first street. It is expected that 2,000 men will be in line. The first rehearsal with 1,000 voices, orchestra and soloists, will take place in the amphitheater Thursday morning. The summer day and night festival at Ulmer Park, near Benson Hurst on Tuesday afternoon and evening next promises to be the greatest affair of its kind ever held. Accommodations have been made there for 70,000 people.

FIRST FACE SEEN IN FORTY YEARS.

The Joyful Exclamation of a Man Whose Sight Was Restored.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 22.—Capt. John Heffernan of Commerce, Tex., saw the faces of his friends for the first time in forty years last Friday. He had been afflicted with cataract of both eyes and totally blind since he was 14. He is now 54. The operation for the removal of the cataract was successfully performed, and Capt. Heffernan's sight completely restored by an occulist of this city.

"Is that you, Tim?" inquired Heffernan of a friend who was present at the operation and, continuing, said, "That's the first face I've seen in forty years, bless God!"

DEFAMES HER.

How Charles Nieme Answers Mary Rock's Charge of Seduction.

Charles Nieme, the young carver and alleged missionary, who is accused by Miss Mary Rock of causing her ruin under promise of marriage, was found yesterday at his home on the third floor of 2631 Franklin avenue. He strongly denied Miss Rock's charges, saying that he met her in a house of ill repute on North Sixth street, where, he said, she went as Mary Crow and lived with another man. He further said that he paid her money each time he visited her and alleged that she has been leading an improper life since she was 15 years of age.

Miss Rock, when seen and informed of Neime's statement, burst into tears and declared that all his allegations were untrue, stating emphatically that she never lived in a house of ill-repute, never lived with another man, and never did anything wrong until he induced her to under promise of marriage.

WAS NOT A DOMESTIC.—A son of Mrs. Annie Crowel, who was burned to death while lighting a fire with gasoline at the residence of Mr. George Chapman, No. 2204 Walnut street, states that his mother was not employed there as a domestic, but was visiting the family.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
